

DECISION DELAYED . . .

Board Reviews Aerospace Pay

Washington (AP) — The Pay Board Tuesday reviewed a 12% pay raise for aerospace workers for the second time, and again failed to reach a final decision.

A spokesman for the board said late Tuesday night that after meeting off-and-on since 9 a.m., the dissent-ridden board finally put off any decision until its next meeting, Jan. 4.

However, the board did agree to allow retroactive payment of an Oct. 1 5% pay raise for the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen. The board approved the first part of the Signalmen's contract last Dec. 9 but a board spokesman said Monday some question had arisen about whether the board meant to approve retroactive pay for the period during the wage freeze, which ended Nov. 14.

Labor members of the board spent most of the afternoon and evening fuming while public members and business members huddled in separate caucuses, apparently trying to reach agreement on whether to trim back the 12% aerospace raises to conform more closely with the board's 5 1/2%-a-year guideline.

Only last Friday, the board said that even in special circumstances it would approve raises of no more than 7% a year.

The disputed contracts by the United Auto Workers and the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists cover production workers at various units of North American Rockwell Corp., United Aircraft Corp., Boeing Co., Lockheed Aircraft Corp., McDonnell Douglas Corp., and LTV Aerospace Corp.

Most follow the pattern set by the UAW pact with North American containing a first-year raise of 51 cents in the hourly average of $4.32, an 11.8% increase. However, the union says 34 cents is a cost-of-living increase called for in its 1968 contract.

The machinists claim also that 34 cents of their 51 cent increase is a cost-of-living catchup, even though they had no previous promise from management to grant such increases.

The United Aircraft pact is less than the pattern, calling for an 8% increase in the first year. The union says the firm has dropped more than 11,000 union employees since 1968.

. . . AUSTRIAN STEPS IN JAN. 1

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — Kurt Waldheim, Austrian ambassador to the United Nations, was chosen by the Security Council Tuesday to succeed U Thant as U.N. secretary-general.

His appointment still must be ratified by the General Assembly, but this is expected to take place Wednesday morning without difficulty.

Thant steps down Dec. 31 after 10 years in office. Waldheim, a former foreign minister of his country and a candidate for the presidency of Austria earlier this year, takes over the $62,500-a-year job Jan. 1 for a five-year term.

member of the United Nations helps Waldheim, he will be a good secretary-general."

U.S. Ambassador George Bush said: "The United Nations will be fortunate to have at its head a man of such great stature and ability."

Waldheim said it was a "rather heavy" birthday present the Security Council had given him.

"It will not be easy to carry," he said. "I will do my best to carry it in the right way."

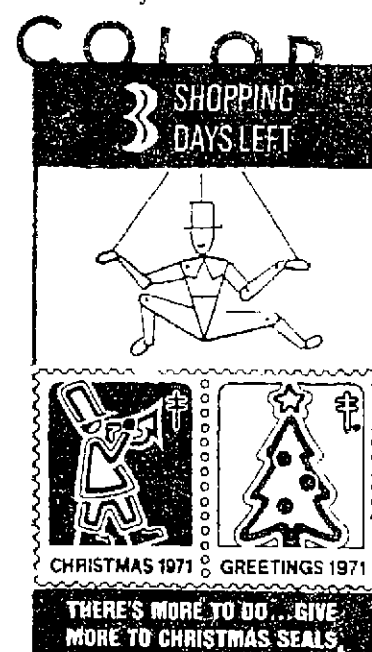

Waldheim, a ruddy-faced man with blue eyes and light brown hair flaked with gray, laughed at a question about speculation that he would not be an active secretary-general.

"Those who know me better know that I'm a very active man," he said.

"But the secretary-general has to act within the framework of his mandate," he added. "If one uses the framework in the right way there is quite a big chance to do something — in an active way."

Crash In Platte Fatal To Youth

Ashtand — The body of an Omaha teen-ager was recovered late Tuesday afternoon from the wreckage of the light plane that carried him to his death some seven miles northeast of here.

Vince Murphy, 17, died when the Cessna 150 he was flying crashed into the Platte River, Police Chief Cyril Scott reported.

The cause of the crash was not immediately determined, but the plane apparently struck a power cable, landing upside down in the river.

An NPPD foreman from Columbus, Harold Berni, said the cable (one of five constituting a main power line between Lincoln and Omaha) was reported down at 5:20 Monday afternoon. Murphy had taken off from Millard at 4.

The wreckage was not discovered till 10 the next morning, when Berni arrived to investigate the downed cable. Lying upside down in about four feet of water, the plane was completely submerged except for its landing gear.

Lincoln Fire Department scuba divers, transported to the scene in two National Guard helicopters, were unable to free the body until the plane was pulled over on its side with a cable winched from shore by Galemore . . . loaned plane.

NPPD linemen late Tuesday afternoon

Les Galemore, owner of the plane, was on hand at the scene of the wreck. He said he had loaned the plane to Murphy after flying with him to be sure he could handle the craft. Murphy had flown it two hours on Friday, Galemore said.

A CAP spokesman said the youth had told his parents Monday he was going Christmas shopping and planned to do some flying. His parents reportedly did not become worried until he failed to return by 10 p.m. Monday night.

Galemore said Murphy had told him he had flown 35 hours

'Internal Problems' Figure In Third DEC Resignation

By BOB GUENTHER
Star Staff Writer

"Internal problems" have figured into the resignation Tuesday of a third State Department of Environmental Control official in recent months.

Steven L. Pilcher, engineer in charge of feedlot pollution control, said Tuesday he has resigned his position with Nebraska for a "variety of reasons" to take a similar job with the Montana Water Pollution Control Agency.

Although Pilcher declined to get specific, he said such items as support, morale and salary figured in his decision to leave.

"It won't do any good to discuss the department's internal problems openly," he said.

"I've discussed them with Director James Higgins. I have my personal reasons for leaving and I'd hate to cause any trouble for the people concerned."

However, Pilcher did comment, "I didn't receive the necessary backing. The department's morale is not high, and part of the problem is with the bill itself which created the agency. But this will probably be amended by the upcoming Legislature," he said.

When asked what led to the lack of morale, Pilcher said it was due to "a combination of factors" which he declined to elaborate on.

Pilcher is thus the third high level DEC official to quit in recent months for morale reasons. Richard Starr, chief of the water pollution division, was the first to resign this past summer.

He was followed by Chief Air Pollution Officer Walter Franke who cited a "half-hearted" attack on pollution by the state in his October letter of resignation.

In his letter, Franke said his desire to provide the people of Nebraska with clean air was shared by few in state government outside the agency. Franke also charged that the agency was inadequately funded and staffed.

Since then the new director, Higgins, defended the agency and its policies noting that the department is still in its infancy.

"If a man wants to put himself on the auction block, there's little I can do," he said.

While Pilcher's job in Montana does involve a raise, he termed the difference "not substantial" and added that Nebraska has a "very workable feedlot pollution control program."

When asked if he agreed with Franke's assessment of Nebraska's sincerity in pollution control, Pilcher said, "I don't want to comment on that. I do feel the agency is not adequately staffed, but they're moving to add more personnel."

Christmas: American Style . . .

Professor Follen's Tree

By BARBARA CRAIG

It was Charles Follen, a German professor at Harvard University, who made the Christmas tree popular in the United States. Follen put up a Christmas tree in the parlor of his Boston home in 1832. This is believed to be the first time there was ever a holiday tree inside an American home.

The professor put up the tree to delight his young son, Charles Jr. English writer Harriet Martineau happened to be a guest at the Christmas gathering.

Later she wrote: "I was present when the Christmas tree was introduced in the United States. My little friend Charley and three companions had been preparing a long time for the pretty show. The cook had broken her eggs carefully, so that Charley might have the shells for cups. These cups were gilded and colored very prettily."

"The tree looked beautiful. The room seemed in a blaze. The ornaments were so well hung that no accident happened, except that one doll's petticoat caught fire. There was a sponge tied to the end of a stick to put out fires. No harm was done."

Lahore's Mood Changes

Lahore, Pakistan — Clamorous demonstrations in the Pakistani city of Lahore condemning former president Yahya Khan for the surrender of East Pakistan ended with his resignation, but the mood of the city has changed. Signs demanding that India be crushed have been replaced by signs demanding revenge for the humiliation.

Economic Changes Urged

Washington — A group of 12 economists from the United States, Western Europe, Japan and Canada recommended a series of changes in international economic relations that went beyond the monetary reforms of the past weekend. The group said there would be a further crisis unless agreements were made on trade, aid, defense and international investment.

Paris — Most of the world's major money markets reopened and, as expected, the dollar held up firmly. (More on Page 3.)

Aerospace Pay Reviewed

Washington — Results of Pay Board discussions over a key aerospace industry wage increase were expected to signal the response of the board to pressures for tougher enforce-

Oil Imports To Rise

Washington — Authorized oil imports into states east of the Rocky Mountains were increased by President Nixon by 100,000 barrels a day. A White House statement said the increase was made especially to accommodate New England consumers who had complained of a shortage of heating oils. Imports west of the Rockies remained unchanged.

New York — An investigation into whether Lindsay administration officials may have committed perjury, malfeasance or misfeasance has been started by Manhattan Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan who said it was begun partly in response to a demand by Queens Democratic leader Matthew J. Troy Jr. Mayor John V. Lindsay, meanwhile, defended his administration's efforts to combat police corruption.

Nixon, Heath Lay Old-Style U.S.-British Partnership To Rest

Hamilton, Bermuda (AP) — President Nixon and Prime Minister Edward Heath have ended man-to-man talks that ended the old style U.S.-British partnership.

But they pledged in a joint statement Tuesday that the two nations will continue working together in defense of shared interests around the world. They also indicated that Japan would be a major partner in future planning.

The Monday and Tuesday talks were an occasion for straight talking in top secret by heads of government who think that for their two countries the time has come for some parting of the ways.

"It is even more vital," the President told Heath in an after-dinner toast Monday night, "that we work together... whatever our journeys may be, together or separately."

In keynoting the mood of the occasion, Heath said: "A healthy relationship can with stand change."

Rapid Change

Nixon and Heath said in their joint statement Tuesday: "The period which lies ahead is likely to be one of rapid change which will offer the free world both opportunity and challenge on an unprecedented scale.

"This will call for the maintenance of the closest possible degree of understanding and unity of purpose not only between their two countries but also between themselves and their allies and partners.

"In view of the significance of the natural relationship between the United Kingdom and the United States they resolved to maintain their close and continuing consultation at all levels in their approach to world problems."

After a tree planting ceremony symbolizing British-American friendship, Nixon told the assembled crowd of officials and newsmen:

"On the great issues we see the problems of the world in exactly the same way. As Britain goes into Europe, there will be a new Europe. The United States is at present embarking on creating what is really a new America. And we live in a time when, because of the vast changing events of the world, we live in a new world."

He emphasized the need for "the new Europe and new America" to work together with the countries of Asia, and particularly with Japan.

Heath made the same point:

"The future of the Western world depends upon Europe and the United States and Japan not being in confrontation; but working together in harmony, because the interests which we have in common are of vital importance to us and so much greater than any differences which may, from time to time, in various ways divide us."

On the return flight to Washington, Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's top foreign-affairs adviser, told newsmen aboard the presidential plane: "It was a good meeting. It was one of the most high-level reviews by the heads of government I've ever attended."

In their declaration, Nixon and Heath said:

"Britain's entry into the European Common Market will strengthen the Atlantic Alliance and thus the fulfillment of U.S.-British goals.

"The Atlantic Alliance 'must remain the cornerstone' of the West's defense policy."

—There is no inconsistency between adherence to the U.S.-British alliance and pursuit of easier relations with the East.

Liberalized Trade

On economic problems facing the world, they said: "Not the least of the problems . . . is the need to promote conditions for more liberal commercial exchanges."

They pledged to work for a reformed international monetary system and noted the importance of cutting tariffs as a means of promoting more world trade.

In their talks, the two leaders agreed to a cautious approach toward negotiations with the Soviet Union on European security. They examined the possibility of a conference on European security that the Russians have been pushing for, and the issue of East-West force reductions.

The two nations also will continue to cooperate in such fields as nuclear weaponry.

Nixon returned to Washington on Tuesday evening from the two-day meeting.

The Nixon-Heath declaration was issued after the two leaders had for eight hours examined some of the issues that divide their two governments and the shared interests that unify them.

With Feeling

Aides said Heath had spoken with feeling on three events that had deeply disturbed not only the British government but also most European allied states. They were:

—Nixon's sudden decision last summer to visit Red China, taken without advance consultation with allied governments.

—Nixon's equally sudden package of emergency economic measures in mid-August that triggered a world money crisis. It has since been settled.

—Nixon's action in putting most of the blame on India for the 14-day India-Pakistan war.

Each of these, in Britain's view, posed a perilous threat to trans-Atlantic unity and generated Big Power tensions that still remain unresolved.

But it seemed the two leaders, while agreeing to disagree over some past and future aspects of policy, also resolved that they could not afford the luxury of disunity at this time. Their joint statement seemed a symbol of their reconciliation.

On the Middle East, Nixon and Heath agreed the best way to check the further spread of Soviet influence and power in the area would be to achieve an Arab-Israeli settlement.

They pondered two possibilities. One was to press for the resumption of the peace-making mission of U.N. mediator Gunnar V. Jarring. The other was to try again for an Israeli-Egyptian stopgap agreement for the reopening of the Suez Canal.

Mutiny Leader's
Descendant, 88,
Dies On Pitcairn

Glendale, Calif. (UPI) — The great-great-grandson of Fletcher Christian, leader of the mutiny on the Bounty, is dead on Pitcairn Island at age 87.

The death of Frederick Martin Christian was reported by short wave radio Tuesday by his son, Tom Christian, to the headquarters here of the Seventh-day Adventist Church, which keeps weekly contact with Pitcairn.

Frederick Christian was reported to have died on Dec. 17, one day before his 88th birthday, after an illness of several months. His death reduced Pitcairn's population to about 90.

Except for brief stays in New Zealand and Tahiti, Frederick Christian spent his entire life on Pitcairn where the mutineers sailed with the Bounty after abandoning Captain Bligh and a handful of seamen in a small boat.

At onetime chief magistrate of Pitcairn and active lay leader in the Adventist Church, Christian was noted as an expert carver of Pitcairn's wooden flying fish, which are sold to passengers of passing ships.

Cambodian Task Force Breaks Through

Saigon (AP) — A Cambodian task force broke through Tuesday to relieve a garrison besieged for 10 days on the northeast Cambodian front.

Field reports said the Cambodian troops driving north had reached the garrison at Prakhm, 45 miles northeast of Phnom Penh, the Cambodian capital.

The rescue force was part of a 7,000-man operation aimed at clearing the blockades of both Prakhm and the neighboring town of Taing Kauk. The latter also has been cut off for 10 days.

The Cambodian campaign follows a disastrous 20,000-man operation on the northeast front which ended early this month after Communist-led forces had chopped up government supply and communications routes.

American aircraft were reported to have made heavy strikes in support of the new operation, which began Monday.

In Phnom Penh, the roar of heavy bombing could be heard, and officials said an enemy force was building up only 12 miles to the east of the city.

"The sound you just heard was bombing," a Cambodian spokesman told a group of newsmen.

In Laos, defenders of the northern Plain of Jars were reported under attack after fleeing to the south and west.

The strategic plain was captured by the North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao Monday night after four American supersonic jets were shot down. A Peking broadcast monitored in Tokyo quoted Laotian Communists as claiming nearly 1,000 defending troops had been wiped out Sunday in one part of the Plain of Jars. An earlier report from Laos indicated that 500 had been killed in three days of heavy fighting.

Anti-aircraft fire was said to have prevented evacuation of the dead and wounded as the defenders fled.

The plain, a key area on supply routes from North Vietnam to all parts of Laos, has changed hands four times in 2½ years.

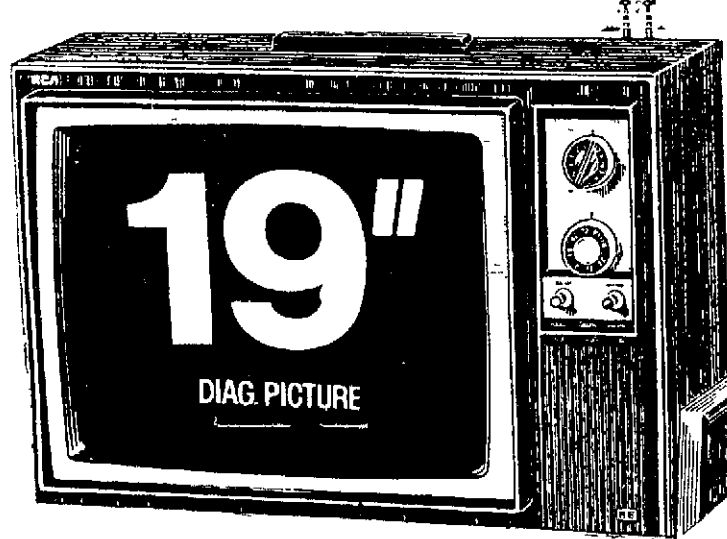

Sihanouk's Uncle Is Assassinated

Phnom Penh (UPI) — Prince Sisowath Rattasa, uncle of deposed chief of state Prince Norodom Sihanouk, was assassinated Tuesday by a grenade-throwing terrorist on a main street near Cham Car Mon Palace, police reported.

Police officials recently refused to grant the dead prince a passport to leave the country.

A Chinese bystander also was killed and another person was wounded in the blast of the grenade apparently tossed by a terrorist who escaped on a motorcycle, police said.

During Sihanouk's reign, Rattasa had been widely known as a corrupt go-between for businessmen who wanted important government contracts or to exercise influence with the palace.

Pakistani Chief Makes 2 Conciliatory Moves

Rawalpindi, Pakistan (AP) — President Zulfikar Ali Bhutto said Tuesday he will transfer the East Pakistani political leader, Sheikh Mujibur Rahman, from jail to house arrest.

Bhutto called the move a first step in seeking a settlement with the leadership in the East, which has broken away to become the separate nation of Bangladesh.

He also named a Bengali as his vice president, underlining a pledge to regain the eastern territories.

Indian officials have said Rahman's release and return to East Pakistan would be key requirements in any peace negotiations.

Rahman led the independence-minded Awami League, which won a thumping election victory in the eastern province a year ago. Former president Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan's military government arrested him last March and charged him with treason. Pakistani federal troops then moved into East Pakistan to put down the secessionist movement, setting off a bloody civil war.

Nurul Amin Is Veep
The new vice president is 77-year-old Nurul Amin, a conservative known both as a political foe of Bhutto's leftist party and an opponent of East Pakistani independence.

Yahya designated Amin prime minister during the closing days of the war with India. Amin turned down the prime ministry when his home province was overrun by the Indian army and Bengali secessionists.

The December 1970 elections in East Pakistan gave Amin one of the province's 169 seats in the National Assembly. Rahman's Awami League won 167.

Despite Bhutto's determination to win back the eastern province, it is doubtful he will find much support there.

People of all political complexions in the East believe his threat in February to boycott the National Assembly eventually led to the beginning of the civil war. That sent millions of refugees fleeing to India and precipitated the India-Pakistan conflict.

A government spokesman said Bhutto will serve without salary to further his government economy drive. For the same reason, the spokesman added, the army's acting commander in chief will continue as a lieutenant general.

Big Landowner
Bhutto has vast land holdings in the West Pakistani province of Sind. But despite his feudal background, his Pakistan People's Party advocates socialism and close ties with Communist China. It is the strongest political group in West Pakistan.

The new president also took over the defense and foreign ministries. He previously has held a number of posts in Pakistan's military regimes.

Yahya, who resigned as president under heavy criticism for his conduct of the war, has also retired from the military, Bhutto said. The president reported Yahya, a former general, was not under house arrest, but he did not elaborate. Some have demanded that Yahya be brought to trial for his role in the defeat.

Bhutto, in a broadcast Monday, shortly after taking office, vowed to retrieve East Pakistan and told the Indians they must pull out their occupation army before peace negotiations could begin.

Part Of Bank's Money Recovered

Toronto (AP) — Six persons were under arrest Tuesday after a $1,129,000 bank robbery in Windsor, Ont., but police said nearly $950,000 of the money was still missing.

They recovered a trunk bulging with banknotes in a raid on a motel room on Toronto's western outskirts Monday when two men and a woman were arrested. But the count of the contents, mainly small bills, totaled about $140,000.

Another $11,000 was seized in a raid on an apartment in suburban Mississauga, where two women were arrested, and Staff Supt. Adolphus Payne said Tuesday an additional $30,000 had been recovered but declined to say how or where the money was found.

Another man was held for questioning in Windsor.

Charged with possession of stolen property were William Ferguson, 40, of no fixed address, and George Ivan Davidson, 43, and Edna Simpson, 58, both of Toronto, arrested at the motel. Jessie Delorme, 45, of Toronto and Edna Lefebvre, 45, of Mississauga were detained at the apartment.

Ferguson and Davidson also were charged with possession of a firearm after a .25-caliber revolver was found at the motel.

Windsor Police Chief Gordon Preston said Tuesday two more men were being sought in the Toronto area and one in Windsor.

No one had yet been charged with the robbery itself.

Devalued Dollar Passes First Test

London (AP) — The devalued American dollar, riding well above its new parity values, successfully passed its first test in quiet trading on European exchanges Tuesday but weakened slightly at the close.

A wave of buying with big money men unloading their hoards of pounds, marks and guilders for cut-price dollars, failed to materialize as predicted.

Both the South African and Yugoslav governments announced devaluation of their currencies in relation to gold. Pretoria cut the rand's value by 12.28% and Belgrade slashed the dinar by 18.73%.

West Germany halted the floating of the mark that has lasted since May 10 and tied it to a new fixed parity of 3.2225 marks to $1.

Foreign exchanges reopened hesitantly in most major centers after Monday's shutdown to prepare for the new currency rates agreed in a weekend meeting in Washington of finance ministers of the Group of Ten, the richest non-Communist nations.

Dealers had widely predicted that speculators would start reaping their profits by exchanging for cheaper dollars the vast sums of European currencies they had bought up since last May.

Prices were marked up accordingly to meet the expected onslaught.

Trading was described as hectic only in Zurich, however, and even there pressure eased off later. In London, dealers said dollar buying was steady but on a small scale. Elsewhere turnover was described as small to normal. Dealers said they do not expect heavy trading now until after the Christmas and New Year holidays.

Lira Rate Eases
The Italian government was forced to start selling dollars during the afternoon to bring the value down after it had burst through its ceiling of 594.60 lire. The rate reached 594.75 lire and then eased back to close at 594.10.

The dollar also hit the ceiling level of 314.93 yen in Tokyo, the first exchange market to open. Dealers said approximately $55 million changed hands and the dollar finally closed at 314.17 yen. The new parity rate is 308 yen to $1.

This was the picture in European foreign exchanges with new parity, opening and closing rates:

London — 38.3 British pence, 39.1, 39.1.
Frankfurt — 3.225 marks, 3.2625, 2.2565.

Paris — 5.1157 francs, commercial rate 5.225, financial rate 5.26, closing commercial 5.2245, closing financial 5.225.

Zurich — 3.84 Swiss francs, 3.895, 3.87825.
Milan — 581.50 lire, 594.25, 594.10.

Amsterdam — 3.2447 guilders, 3.2675; 3.274375.
Brussels — 44.81 francs, 44.46, 45.475.

Davis, Calif. (AP) — Having nothing to do after grading final exams in his Survey of English Literature through Shakespeare course, Asst. Prof. Sid Berger at the Univ. of California at Davis decided to count up the spelling errors. On the 75 final exams, there were 481 different misspelled words and names including "Shakespeare," "epidemy," "Lunacy," "Mack Beth," "bath-tube," "xho a," "engulp," "solger," "cornel."

"What on earth is our lower education cumming two?" asks Berger.

Execution Photos Reach U.S.

By The Associated Press
Further photographs of executions in Dacca reached the United States Tuesday after running into a roadblock in India.

The photos — showing the bayonet execution of suspected East Pakistani collaborators, the stamping of a little boy, and the bodies of slain victims — documented earlier eyewitness accounts by AP staff photographers Horst Faas and Michel Laurent.

Indian telegraphic authorities refused to transmit these pictures from Calcutta. They were flown to London and sent from there.

Six photos had been transmitted Sunday from Calcutta — along with an eyewitness story by Laurent and Faas.

The public executions took place in Dacca Saturday. The film was taken to Calcutta

Sunday and processed there because radiophoto transmission facilities have not been restored to the former East Pakistan capital.

The pictures transmitted Sunday were widely published on the front pages of American and foreign newspapers. They showed a victim praying and being tortured, and other incidents that led to death by bayoneting.

In holding up the later pictures, A. S. Khadihar, director of the Overseas Communication Service in India said:

"We submit to the military authorities for clearance anything which we consider objectionable from the point of view of our national interest. I don't call it censorship."

Of the five pictures barred — the pictures transmitted Tuesday from London — Khadihar said: "We do not consider them to be in our interest."

Bangla Desh 'Mass Grave'

Dacca (AP) — "The whole country is a mass grave. Who knows how many millions have been killed?"

The police chief of the new People's Republic of Bangla Desh, describing the slaughter in East Pakistan, said Tuesday that mass graves could be uncovered "in every village."

Others killed before the Pakistani surrender lie without burial on the streets and village paths where they died, he added.

"Jackals, vultures and dogs are at them," said the chief, Inspector General Abdul Khalbue.

Anywhere between 500,000 and 1½ million Bengalis may have died in all. The exact number probably never will be known; all casualty figures must be speculative.

Roy Disney Dies At 78

Burbank, Calif. (AP) — Roy O. Disney, who labored behind the scenes as the business brains of Walt Disney Productions to free his brother for creative work, has died at age 78.

Disney, the corporation's board chairman and chief executive officer, died of a cerebral hemorrhage Monday night at St. Joseph's Hospital not far from the Disney headquarters here.

He and his brother Walt, who died in December, 1966, worked as a team to build a little studio with a cartoon mouse into a multimillion-dollar entertainment empire.

"My job is to help Walt do the things he wants to do," he once told an interviewer. "I deal with the banks and give Walt a free hand."

The brother team grew into a worldwide corporation which had sales in 1970 of $175 million and which produces cartoons, television and movies, records, music publishing and operates Disneyland in Anaheim, Calif., and Walt Disney World in Orlando, Fla.

Disney took full control of the company with two other Disney veterans after Walt's death. He later gave up most of the day-to-day control to guide the building of Disney World, a $400 million, 27,500-acre amusement-vacation center which he viewed as a monument to his brother. It was dedicated in October.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

Experience has shown that "part-time" hearing aid users seldom derive benefit from their aids, according to a nationally known authority on speech and hearing. This experience more often than not turns them into no-time users. It is not by mere chance that man has been provided with eyelids and not ear lids. One plus one always equals two, but for many hard of hearing persons, one plus one can equal four. A hearing aid for each ear can help the wearer hear up to four times better. It may make the difference between hearing and not hearing at all. Call or write me for an interesting booklet by MAICO, "25 Most Often Asked Questions About Hearing Aids." EVENTS IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

One wonders, as he views the passing scene, whether people are becoming more or less tolerant. Tolerance is the degree to which you recognize the rights of others, the limitations you place on the exercise by others of their equality under the law.

In the past week, Creighton University cheerleaders in Omaha refused as a group to stand for the National Anthem. In our opinion, the students in this case failed to recognize that they represented the entire school and its student body and, therefore, did not live up to their responsibilities.

This is what the Creighton administration quite properly decided. Cheerleaders must stand for the National Anthem or not be cheerleaders. The cheerleaders cannot, as a representative group, impose their philosophies on others, cannot infringe upon the ideological rights of others by assuming a role to which they are not entitled.

At the University of Nebraska, the Board of Regents has stepped into the middle of a dispute over spending of student fees. In doing so, it may have placed itself on a quicksand from which it cannot be dislodged.

The problem in this matter of student fees and many others on campuses across the land are that people in general are in disagreement on a wide variety of subjects. University administrations are searching for answers to the controversies that embroil them in public debate and controversy.

The reason they are doing so is because such debate and controversy generally hurt them. In Nebraska, the university is hurt in the legislative budget-making process by student actions which are unpopular in a largely conservative Legislature.

When state senators don't like what the students are doing, including the convocations they sponsor and the things they write in the campus newspaper, those senators tend to condemn the university and shave its appropriations.

This stems from a mistaken notion of what the university is and ought to be. It can be stated without reservation that one who looks for a campus without controversy is looking for something about as rare as a dodo bird.

Neither the faculty nor student body of a university is of a very complacent nature. Rather, they are by nature groups that tend to run against the grain of things, that tend to challenge accepted ways, that tend to question the so-called wisdom of the ages or of the current times.

They lean in this direction for one simple reason — that is an obvious consequence of the educational process. Education is the pursuit of knowledge and truth, an impossibility if one readily accepts everything as it appears on the surface or as habit has come to make it.

Knowledge is the key to man's progress and progress is automatically a process of change. The syllogistic end of all this is conflict between the old and the new, a basic challenge of things as they are in comparison with what they might be.

There are times, we are sure, when student-dominated decisions on the spending of student fee income have not been as thoughtful and intelligent as they should have been. But there are a multitude of times, too, when students have moderated their initial impulses and when they have produced decisions of meaning and high merit.

The Board of Regents is worried that it is being painted with the brush used by students when the latter do something that turns out unpopular in the political arena. Does this, then, point to control by the board of all student fee expenditures? That would be a drastic mistake, depriving students of the degree of autonomy to which they are entitled and driving them to independent actions beyond all influence by the faculty and administration.

Does the situation point to establishment of a system by which the board is totally absolved, in the eyes of all people, of all responsibility for student fee money? That is a practical impossibility, if nothing else, because the general public will look to the board regardless of how diligently it may wash its hands of things.

The real problem is something else: it is the simple fact that far too many people want to see or hear of nothing on campus with which they do not agree. It is a crying shame that people want retribution, not reconciliation or compromise, for ideas that are not their own and with which they feel uncomfortable.

YORICK BLUMENFELD English Addicted To Puzzlemania

LONDON — As revered a holiday tradition as the holly and the ivy are the puzzles, quizzes and brain-teasers which appear in all the national newspapers and magazines on the day before Christmas. These tests of verbal agility have become close to an addiction for many readers. In fact, they appear to sustain the upper classes through what would otherwise be a tedious and lengthy holiday in their beloved country houses.

Last Dec. 24, The (London) Times carried four separate quizzes. Armed with an almanac, an encyclopedia, a dictionary and two canny assistants, this correspondent spent most of Boxing Day (Dec. 26) trying to thwart the fiends who had fashioned this challenge. Alas! On one test the score was 16 out of 54 points.

But then the mind-boggling questions included such teasers as: "Where is L'Internationale the national anthem? (Congo-Brazzaville)." Or "Upon what rock-like foundation is St. Basil's Cathedral, Moscow, built?" (Mortar made with white of eggs.)

Crossword puzzles are a national rage at the moment. One upstairs wrote a letter to The Times earlier this year informing the editors that he had finished puzzle No. 12,468 in a staggering 4½ minutes. This whiz was promptly invited to show his stuff in front of the BBC-TV cameras and proceeded to better his record by doing another puzzle in 3½ minutes.

James Atkins, a singer and the 1971 Times Crossword Champion, takes just over 11 minutes to do an average puzzle. He won his title by beating eight other finalists on the stage of the Mayfair theater before an audience described as "the cream of the crossword intelligentsia in the country."

A good example of how difficult and abstruse the British crossword puzzle can be is one published in The Times recently—No. 12,944 incidentally. "The Admiral's row of irises" turned out to be "FLAGRANT." "Is effective as tranquilizer" is solved by the word "LULLS." "Listener damaged by repeated strikes" works out to "CAULIFLOWER EAR." And so on.

The first crossword puzzle—a descendant of the ancient word square—presumably was put together by Arthur Winn and appeared in the supplement of the New York (Sunday) World of Dec. 21, 1913. The appearance in the spring of 1924 of the first book of crossword puzzles touched off what became in 1924-25 first a nationwide and then a worldwide craze. The first crossword to appear in a British paper was published in the Sunday Express in 1924.

All kinds of records have been established since that time. In May, 1966, the London times published an announcement from a Fijian woman that after 31 years of effort she had just succeeded in completing their crossword No. 673, in the issue of April 4, 1932.

Attitude At City Hall

Charging that "thousands of dollars of city employe time are being wasted now because it takes more time to perform services for citizens with the current city hall attitude than it would with a more positive service attitude," City Councilman Bob Sikyta has proposed that the council create the position of "service coordinator" to help citizens cut through governmental red tape when they have business with city hall.

Sikyta feels that there is too much unnecessary delay in performance on the part of some city officials and "there is the prevailing attitude in city hall that citizens have to batter down doors to get service. This is true whether a citizen is talking about getting a red-tagged house removed, a building permit, an industrial site development plan adopted or getting answers to other small or large questions."

Mayor Schwartzkopf calls Sikyta's charges "absurd and unfounded" and that his assessment of City Hall attitude is untrue. The mayor "strongly opposes" creating the position of "service coordinator," on the grounds that it is not needed and would provide no additional benefits to Lincoln citizens.

As with any flap in government, there is more than one side. Many times people dealing with City Hall, especially in the development area, come in with plans that are incomplete and imprecise, but nevertheless ask for approval anyway because they are in a hurry to get started with a project. That is their fault, not the city's, but the city gets falsely blamed for failing to perform.

From our observation of City Hall, the general attitude is not one of arrogance or discrimination against the citizen seeking service. City personnel have an obligation to see that codes, procedures and regulations set by law are followed.

We agree with Mayor Schwartzkopf that creating the position of "service coordinator" would be a duplication of services and we think his defense of City Hall attitude, overall, is justified.

Government is never the efficient operation that private business is, though. Perhaps it could be more efficient. There are occasions when a citizen gets the run-around, usually because of the press of business in city departments. We suggest that the mayor undertake a review of the practices employed by departments under his command with the hopes of eliminating any circumstances under which a citizen seeking service faces an unnecessary delay.

Absenteeism Scored

The fact that a number of members of Congress spend a considerable amount of time away from their duties seeking political or economic gain has not escaped the notice of Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine.

Mrs. Smith, a 23-year veteran, takes her senatorial responsibilities seriously and she held the all-time record for voting on consecutive roll call votes (2,941) until being hospitalized for hip surgery in 1968.

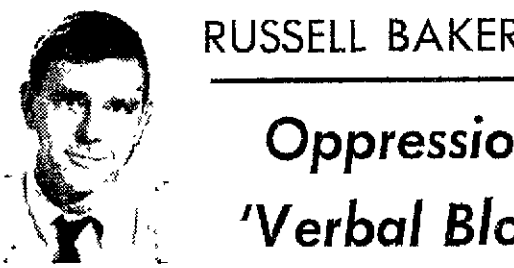

There are, of course, times when a senator or member of the House is of greater value to his constituents off the floor than being present for transactions of routine business. But Mrs. Smith has a point when she charges that the repeated absences of presidential candidates, "moonlighters" and "junketeers" are a disgrace to the Senate and severely cripple the legislative process.

The Senate, Mrs. Smith said, has become "a springboard to those who would use it—even abuse it—for their selfish interests, whether such interests be commercializing their position and title with the acquisition of high-price lecture fees or running for president." It is, she said, "a club of prima donnas intensely self-oriented . . . dedicated to their own personal accommodation."

To remedy absenteeism, the lady from Maine is proposing a constitutional amendment under which any member of Congress who fails to vote at least 60 percent of the time in any one session be expelled from office. The amendment makes no provision for illness or other incapacitating conditions that might keep a legislator away from a vote, and thus it would be somewhat harsh in its application.

Perhaps Mrs. Smith's continuing to make an issue of it and corresponding public pressure brought to bear, will be enough.

RUSSELL BAKER Oppression At Wide Variance From Injustice; 'Verbal Bloat' Hurts Rather Than Helps Cause

WASHINGTON—Isn't there anybody left in the United States who feels himself the victim of injustice?

The question comes to mind because of the heavy volume of complaint lately in which spokesmen for the American discontented, speaking for large ill-defined constituencies, talk about their oppression. No group with an ax to grind is socially aggrieved these days, or politically abused, or economically cheated. They are invariably oppressed.

What they really are, of course, is afflicted: They are suffering from the fearful late 20th Century epidemic of verbal bloat. The victim of verbal bloat is incapable of saying that the economic short-changing the country has given him is "injustice"; he must call it "oppression."

Verbal bloat is often justified by its sufferers on ground that the only way to draw attention to a grievance these days is to scream, pound the table and blow up the chicken house. In short, by abandoning reason. The people who argue this line are usually the same people who complain that the world is becoming an insane asylum.

There are practical reasons for rejecting their defense. The overstated argument distracts attention from the merits of the case and focuses it, instead, on the absurdity of the overstatement. Man's first landing on the moon, for example, was a splendid event, but when President Nixon, in a seizure of verbal excess, called it the greatest happening since creation, silliness threatened to break out all over.

There are differences between creation and mankind's splendid moments, one of them being a certain weight within the word "creation" which leaves us feeling that it was an event beyond man's capacity to duplicate.

In the same way, there are differences between injustice and oppression. Oppression is another word of great weight, but here the sense of weight is cold, cruel, stony, the weight of pyramids bearing down on a humanity without hope of mercy or justice.

Is it this hopelessness that we are supposed to feel when women liberationists speak of the "oppression" of women in the United States? Surely not. A sensible case exists that women as a group are subject to certain unjust exploitations. Fine. Let's do something about it.

One good way to distract attention from the justice of doing something about it, however, is to bring up the subject of "oppression." Here is a typical example of how verbal bloat works to damage the cause it professes to serve.

First, the disinterested mind, which might have been hospitable to correcting injustice, is sidetracked into pondering the vast stony weight of the word "oppression."

"Oppression," it muses. "Slaves toiling hopelessly for Pharaoh with no hope this side of death. Surely the women I encounter are in no such predicament. Neither, surely, can be these women who are writing books, telling the television audience and complaining to newspapers that they are oppressed. Oppressed people are not permitted to write books and have no access to either television or press."

Somebody, this methodical mind may conclude, is doing an outrageous overselling job, in the manner of TV sales pithery, which minds everywhere have learned to discount at huge rates for nonsense. Is it fair, then, to slander those who conclude, "Women's liberation? Oppression? Baloney!"

Another unhappy result, of course, is to leave American

TOM WICKER

Accounting For My Lai

NEW YORK — Earlier this year, following the conviction of Lt. William Calley for murdering 22 civilians during the massacre at My Lai, I was asked to uphold in a television debate the position that Calley was being made a scapegoat for the guilt of many others, and should therefore be freed.

I declined, on grounds that I was not certain of the scapegoat charge and that, in any event, Calley's particular guilt seemed to have been proven beyond any doubt. The latter point still seems true to me, although one reviewing officer has reduced Calley's sentence from life to 20 years, his conviction is being appealed, and President Nixon has promised a final presidential review of the case.

But it can hardly be denied any longer that Calley has been singularly penalized for the atrocity at My Lai. The acquittal of Col. Oran K. Henderson last week means that three officers and two enlisted men have been tried and found not guilty; charges against twelve officers and seven enlisted men have been dropped; and only Calley—if he loses his appeal—will pay a criminal penalty for that terrible morning of carnage.

This is a sorry record, quite possibly a shameful one. Perhaps little should be said about five acquittals, and the prosecuting officer in Colonel Henderson's case said he had no fault to find with the verdict; but it is remarkable, even extraordinary, that with all its resources and manpower, the government could neither bring anyone else to trial nor make its case against any of those charged but Calley.

This is all the more true in that there were so many eyewitnesses to the events at My Lai, and that there have been so many investigations of those events, both by the Army and by newspapermen—who first brought the matter into the open. It's hard not to conclude that a major reason for the Army's ultimate performance was a lack of zeal for prosecuting its own.

The Army displayed no such lack of zeal when it deployed its snoopers across the country to spy on politicians, students, newspapermen, and anyone else its brass hats decided was subversive or suspect. The Justice Department did not hesitate to pounce on every newspaper that dared to print the Pentagon Papers, the First Amendment notwithstanding, and even now is pouring untold manpower and resources into an effort to bring criminal prosecutions for that publication. The FBI wants subversives to think there is a G-man behind every mailbox and the government is wiretapping, bugging, and beefing up the armaments of your local police, all in the name of law and order; but the best anybody can do about My Lai is to pin a murder rap on a lone lieutenant.

It may be protested that General Koster was demoted, that he and General Young lost their Distinguished Service medals and that the Army says it is still considering such administrative actions against some of the others whose criminal cases were dismissed. All that means is that even the Army found that some responsibility for the atrocity, before, during or after the fact, ought to be charged to these men. But none is to face a jury or any form of criminal charge.

But if the Army is the prime culprit for this dereliction of duty, it still does not operate entirely independently of the Department of Defense and the White House. Whatever might have been said about thorough investigations and doing justice, the record does not suggest that anyone higher up was urging the Army onward. In the end, therefore, Henderson could say with entire justification, if with unintended irony, that his acquittal "reaffirms the confidence any Army man can have in the military system."

Except, of course, for William Calley. The fact that a military court found him guilty of 22 murders confirms that, at My Lai, there did occur what Gen. William Peers later called "a tragedy of major proportions" and what Nixon once referred to as "certainly a massacre." No one has suggested that Calley did all the shooting that day; there is much doubt as to what — if any — orders, general or specific, he was — or believed himself — acting under; and it is certain that there was much lying and covering up after the incident (although Henderson was acquitted of such charges).

That no one else is to suffer criminal sanction or to pay more than a token price for any of this does not eliminate the guilt of William Calley. It does raise the question — which Nixon ought to consider in his final review of the case — whether Calley alone should be made to bear the burden for us all. When so little else has been done to face the stain of My Lai on American honor, what is the good of jailing one man and calling it justice?

Letters To The Editor

Brevity in letters is requested but length in itself will have no bearing on publication. Writers are advised that needless details and repetitious matter will be edited out of letters. Too frequent contributions from one person on the same subject may be rejected. All letters must be accompanied by writer's true name but may be printed under a pseudonym or under a pen name or initials. However, letters will be printed under a pen name or initials at the editor's discretion.

Editor's Note: The letter signed by Marion Petersen in Tuesday morning's column commending a Star editorial on the alleged police brutality case should have carried Mrs. Petersen's signature as chairman of the YWCA public affairs committee. The ideas expressed in the letter were those approved by that committee.

Polluted Minds

Lincoln, Neb.

In The Star editorial of Dec. 15, the editor seemed to be objective part of the time; however, for the most part, I cannot agree. "Hair" is typical of the intent of all pornographic and obscene material — to make money at the expense of the curious and the depraved. The young are curious and it seems that their elders should be accepting their responsibility for protecting the young as well as those with prurient interests by removing the temptations. Those who want to ignore such trash have a problem because the controversial shows and other obscenities are constantly being brought to their attention until their curiosity is aroused. Permissiveness on the part of the older generation has led us to the brink of moral decay by their indulgences in selfish and immoral pleasures, some of which were obtained in brawdy houses of entertainment. Unless we change our way of thinking, we can expect little accomplishment in overcoming the ills which plague our society. Drug abuse, sex abuse, obscenity, abortion, divorce, anarchy and social disease are all a part of the sick society. We complain, but we can also do something about it besides making things worse—if that be possible. The disease of perverted thinking, if corrected, will do much to relieve the symptoms.

The governor has stated his concern about pornography and has launched a campaign against it. He deserves the cooperation of every concerned individual. It appears that there are many Lincolinites who are not concerned but are critical of those who are.

Freedom as guaranteed by the Constitution does not and should not include the right to violate all the rules of human and social decency and thus to undermine the morals of our nation. Just any kind of freedom must not be permitted to become a license of depravity.

I do agree that it makes no difference where the production, "Hair," is shown, for it should not be shown in either a private or public place. There is no temptation if the source of that temptation is removed. This should be a matter for the community to decide, for the community suffers as a result of polluted minds. The film industry escapes responsibility by transferring the responsibility to the community. This is not right.

Censorship or not, rules and regulations should be imposed on the film industry, et al.

Lack Of Respect

Waverly, Neb.

Lately I have read in the local newspapers and heard on the radio news of the refusal of cheer leaders of certain schools to pay proper respect to our national anthem.

However, like some of our callow youth today, they do what they start only halfway. To complete their show of disrespect for the nation that has sired and nourished them, they should in some way desecrate every grave of every fallen American since the 18th of April of 1775 — a task they could not complete if every one of them went at it full time and each lived to be 100 years old.

Then, to bring their disrespect to a conclusion, they would have to reach out and slap the face of every living American who by hand, hear, or mind has made this the most respected and most hated nation in the world today.

As for hate, this is a by-product of respect.

But those who remained and will remain seated while our grand and glorious Star Spangled Banner echoes through our land should rest assured that they will be defended and protected by the 199 million squares who stand up.

ONE OF THE SILENT MAJORITY

Home Training

Lincoln, Neb.

I believe that "Hair" should be allowed to be seen by the Lincoln people. Temptations of all kinds have existed in the world since it began, and "Hair" won't have that great an impact on changing the existing temptations in a city the size of Lincoln.

Many of the junior high students today have more life experience than a generation ago because they lack strict parental control of their behavior, and because a high degree of "socialization" with others their age leaves them unimpressible where morals are concerned.

A child's training throughout life is greatly influenced by what his parents have taught him. So control on behavior begins at home and not because of having seen "Hair."

B.K.

Veteran's Thought

Lincoln, Neb.

In regard to Roger V. Yant's letter on "Hair," I was amazed that a 25-year-old man could write such a letter. I could understand a young teen-ager writing a letter like this, but for a married man to write this kind of letter, all I can think of is that there must be something lacking in their home life.

I was always taught that sex was more or less something sacred and should not be put on exhibition for the world to watch. Evidently Mr. Yant has never been in the service or he would think more of the American flag than to watch a sex act performed on it.

I have never seen the play; all I know is what I have read in the papers. I am a veteran and I was almost killed fighting for the flag, so it is hard for me to understand how anybody could abuse the flag this way.

I don't think too many are leaving Nebraska for the reason Mr. Yant stated. If they are leaving for this reason, with his way of thinking, why doesn't he join them?

Colin, Earl Argue Bedspread Issue

Lancaster County Commissioner Robert Colin again Tuesday took issue with Rex Earl of Colonial Homes which operates Lancaster Manor for the county — this time for bedspreads.

Colin said he had had several calls from suppliers who claimed they had not been contacted about the bidding for the bedspreads and concerning specifications calling for a certain product which "limits who can bid."

He said he didn't think it was right to "pin it down to one manufacturer because you're going to eliminate a lot of bidders."

Doesn't Understand Concern

Earl said he didn't understand why people were concerned about not being contacted because the advertisement for bids was published as in any other bidding and they had received a total of nine bids.

In answer to the criticism of Colin for specifying one manufacturer, Earl said that the brand was specified because it is the best type of bedspread for the intended use.

Colin said he didn't see what difference it made whether the bedspread was to be used in a nursing home or private home, to which Earl retorted:

"That shows how much you know about nursing homes."

Telephone Use Hit

Colin also was critical of information on the spread and manufacturer having been given prospective bidders by telephone rather than in "black and white."

Earl said that the information was very brief consisting of seven words and was furnished by phone when prospective bidders had sought such information.

In other business, the board approved transfer of $35,000 from Lancaster Manor for repayment to the inheritance tax funds.

The board also was told Tuesday by the minister of the Temple Baptist Church that the recent charges by Charles Bates concerning use of a vacant lot adjacent to the church were "false and untrue."

Charge Levied

Bates had charged that the property was not being used for tax-exempt purposes. However, Assessor Fritz Meyer had said that when he inspected the property it was being used for recreational purposes for the church.

The Rev. H. E. Garland told the board that the church felt it had been "unjustly accused" of being dishonest.

The board decided to take no further action on Bates' complaint.

Hartford Firm To Underwrite Vehicle Liability

The State Insurance Department announced Tuesday the Hartford Accident and Indemnity Co. of Hartford, Conn., will underwrite liability coverage for employees operating some 6,000 state owned vehicles.

The department said the policy would provide liability coverage limits of $100,000 for death or bodily injury of one person; $300,000 for deaths or injuries in any one occurrence; and $50,000 for property damage for any one accident.

The firm's net bid of $98,042 for a one-year policy beginning Jan. 1, 1972, was the lowest of the bids received Dec. 8, the department reported.

$984,000 Loan To Twin Valleys District Is OK'd

Washington (P) — Rep. Dave Martin, R-Neb., announced Tuesday a $984,000 loan to Twin Valleys Public Power District of Cambridge, Neb., has been approved by the Rural Electrification Administration.

He said the loan will assist in financing construction of 60 miles of power lines to serve 187 new customers and improvements including seven miles of new teline and conversion of nine miles of existing lines to higher capacity and to installation of a new 3,750 KVA substation with transmission facilities near Cambridge.

Several Offices Will Close Early

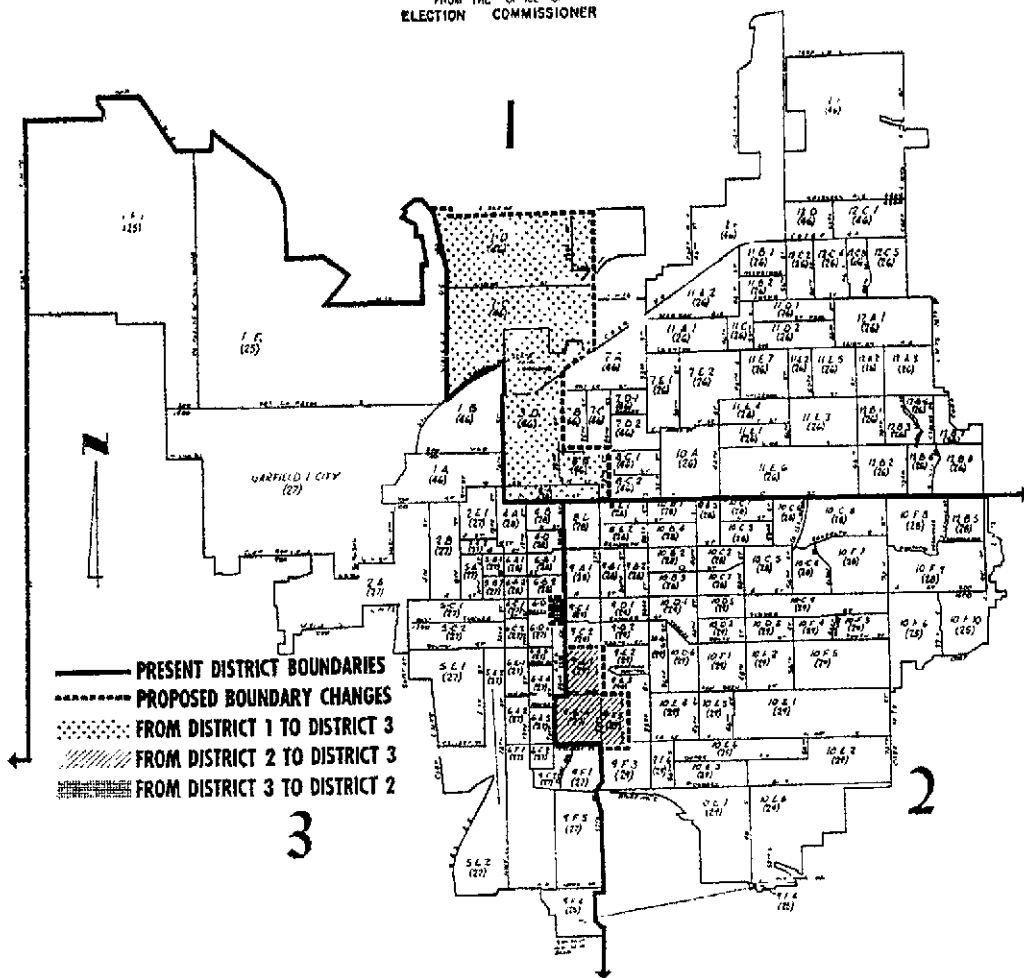

The offices of the Lancaster County Assessor, Clerk and Treasurer will close at 3 p.m. Thursday for the Christmas holiday weekend.

All state, county and city offices will be closed Friday.

Reapportionment OK Expected

Lancaster County Commissioners are expected to approve a plan for reapportionment of the three commissioner districts by the Jan. 1 deadline.

Although the commissioners indicated that the plan as drawn by the City-County Planning Department had been examined and was acceptable to the board, no formal direction for drawing a resolution was made Tuesday since Commissioner William Grossman was ill and unable to attend the meeting.

The new plan, based on 1970 census data, results in equalizing the districts so that two of the districts contain 33.4% of the population each and the other 33.2%.

State Supreme Court Told Sentence Was Too Severe

The attorney for Robert Roberts of Grand Island told the State Supreme Court Tuesday that a prison sentence of two to five years, imposed by Hall County District Judge Donald H. Weaver, was too severe for the 20-year-old youth, accused of offering to sell $10 worth of marijuana to a narcotics agent.

A brief filed with the high court said Roberts pleaded guilty to the charge in expectation of receiving probation and treatment and counseling and should have been placed on probation.

The brief acknowledged that Roberts had participated in the use of marijuana and drugs for more than a year at the time of sentencing, but noted Roberts was residing with his parents, had obtained a job as a mechanic and had been taking treatments and counseling with the Kearney Drug Clinic in an attempt to defeat the drug problem.

In asking a reduction of sentence, the brief said Roberts "had not embarked upon a scheme or plan of general sale and distribution of marijuana," but that the sale "was but a by-product and incidental to the defendant's own use of these substances."

High-Protein Food Put Back In Diet

Washington (UPI) — Under pressure for broader programs to feed the needy, the Agriculture Department announced Tuesday it would restore several high-protein foods to a special diet for needy pregnant women, new mothers and babies.

The program, operated through local public health and medical agencies, provide special packages of foods to needy women and children, even if they are already receiving help through food stamps or commodity donations.

Edward J. Hekman, administrator of the Food and Nutrition Service, said peanut butter and scrambled egg mix will be returned to the food packages, and an increase in distribution rates for fruit juices has been authorized.

The high-protein peanut butter and scrambled egg mix had been eliminated from the program about a year ago, officials said. The Agriculture Department has also paved the way for rebuilding the special program. It has ruled that in any locality where food stamps are not now distributed, the special food packages will be discontinued if a stamp program is started to serve entire families. In areas which currently have both stamp programs and the special mother-child aid, however, the supplemental program will be continued.

Currently, the supplemental program serves about 1,185,000 women and children in 324 localities.

Pressures which restored the protein foods to the supplemental program were spearheaded by groups in Detroit and reached a climax here recently during Senate debate over the confirmation of Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz.

While Butz was seeking Senate support for his confirmation which eventually came by a close 51-44 margin, Sen. Robert Griffin, R-Mich., urged him to approve a request for expansion of the number of mothers and children served by the supplemental program in Detroit, and for restoration of the high-protein commodities.

Plane's Testing Probed

Washington (AP) — House investigators have called unfounded an allegation that a flaw was found in the Navy's F14 plane two weeks before the defect caused one of the jet fighters to crash.

"The real cause of the failure was not determined until after the crash," concluded a House Armed Services investigating subcommittee report released Tuesday.

But the subcommittee headed by Chairman F. Edward Hebert, D-La., said it is difficult to understand how testing procedures "were apparently so deficient" that the defect was not pinpointed before the flight.

Hebert's report confirmed that the hydraulic tube rupture which the Navy says sent the F14 out of control and into the ground on its second test flight last Dec. 30 had first occurred during an engine runup two weeks earlier. Both pilots escaped from the crash.

But it discredited the report by a group of unidentified personnel obviously close to the F14 project at Grumman Aircraft Co. on Long Island that Navy civilian engineers had identified the tube rupture as "fatigue failure" and objected to the flight.

Defending Grumman's decision simply to replace the tubing, Hebert's subcommittee said it found no evidence that anyone knew the failure was caused by vibrations until an extensive investigation after the crash.

It said also it found no evidence the civilian engineers had objected to the test flight.

The group alleged also that the Navy ignored its civilian engineers' recommendation to delay the first test flight two months because of engineering difficulties and instead pushed the first test flight ahead one month.

UNL Professor Headed Teams Cancer Formula

A University of Nebraska-Lincoln scientist has had a hand in a development which could lead to improved cancer treatment, it was disclosed Tuesday.

A report Monday from the Princeton Accelerator Laboratory told of recent tests which hint that high speed neutrons may be more successful in killing cancer cells than standard X-ray treatment.

A mathematical formula which figured in the project was developed by a team headed by Dr. Robert Katz, UNL physics professor.

Dr. Katz has been granted a leave of absence for the second semester at UNL to work in the field of cancer research at Hammersmith Hospital in London.

Douglas County Auto Tax For '72 $1 Million Higher

Omaha (AP) — The wage-price freeze apparently will make the Douglas County auto tax for 1972 more than $1 million higher than this year, officials said.

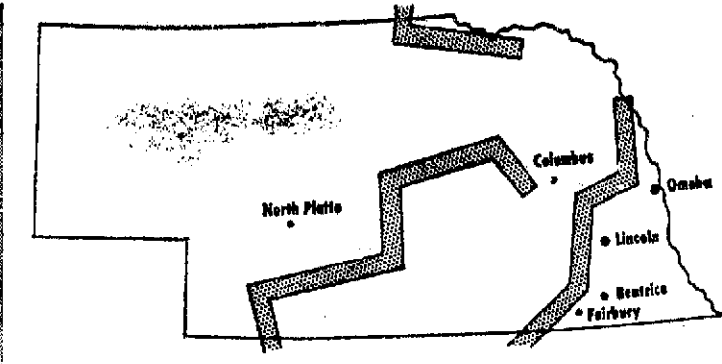

The 1972 auto tax bills are being sent out. New license plates must be on cars and taxes paid by March 1.

The total for last year's statements was $6.3 million; This year it will be about $7.4 million, a 19% increase.

Mr. Jean Gates, supervisor of the auto tax section of the Assessor's office, said the number of 1972 bills, increased 6 1/2% — from 200,000 to 213,000. The increase is about normal.

FLIGHTS BY RF-84s . . . follow routes over state shown in map.

Residents Probably Accustomed To Low Flights

Residents in certain areas of Nebraska and other states in the Midwest have probably become accustomed to the sight of jet aircraft flying at low levels.

The jets, which fly at altitudes below 500 ft., are piloted by Nebraska Air National Guardsmen of the 155th Tactical Reconnaissance Group.

The flights, which have been conducted since 1965, provide training in low-level navigation and photography.

If you see the planes regularly you probably live near one of four routes in the Midwest designated for the low-altitude flying.

According to Col. Fred Bailey Jr. of the Nebraska Air National Guard the routes attempt to avoid cities, towns, hospitals, chicken and turkey farms and other areas in which the flights may cause complaints.

Although the jets do not fly fast enough to cause sonic booms, Bailey points out that "a jet aircraft may sound very loud when it suddenly flies over."

The flights occur only in daylight hours, he said.

According to Maj. John Knott of the Nebraska Air National Guard the most recent low-level flight over Nebraska was flown Sunday. He said the flights will continue to be flown about two or three times a week.

Knott said the flights may temporarily be discontinued after Feb. 1 as the RF-84 aircraft now being flown are phased out in favor of the RF-4 aircraft.

He said the flights would be resumed, but that new flight routes may be designated for the higher-performance RF-4.

$12,000 Raised For Orange Bowl Float

Contributions to the Nebraska Float Fund passed the 12,000 mark Tuesday, assuring the state an entry in first class competition in the Orange Bowl parade in Miami New Year's Eve.

The drive was co-sponsored by the Corn Cobs and Tassels, pep organizations at the University of Nebraska, and the Nebraska Association of Commerce and Industry.

Gary Kuklin of Lincoln and Robert Runice of Omaha, co-chairmen of the float committee, said they were gratified with the response to the fund drive, which came from groups and individuals throughout the state.

The co-chairmen said the Nebraska float may be seen on Dec. 31 between 7 and 8:30 p.m. (CST), when the parade is nationally televised by NBC-TV.

Stacked Girls Plaintiff's Downfall

New Orleans (UPI) — A federal appeals court ruled Wednesday a 240-pound Texas college student should have known a certain wooden chair he sat in would break, especially because 14 coeds were sitting on his lap at the time.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled that James W. Wyly was, therefore, not entitled to collect $13,000 in damages for injuries he suffered while a contestant in a "national lap sitting contest" sponsored by Burlington Industries.

The stunt was part of a national advertising campaign for wrinkle-resistant slacks.

"The object of the contest," said the court, "was to stack coeds on a contestant's lap, with the winner having the lap which holds the most coeds for a 10-second period. The prize was three or four pairs of slacks and a night on the town."

Wyly entered the contest at the University of Texas-El Paso, where he was a student.

"When the plaintiff's turn came to participate," the court said, "14 coeds were placed on his lap, which would have broken the existing record."

"But the pressure of the contest became too great and the chair collapsed, injuring plaintiff."

The court said testimony showed that "plaintiff knew he weighed 240 pounds and intended to hold 14 girls who weighed about 100 pounds each; that the girls were to be picked up and laid across each other, on his lap, and that the weight was unstable and was ill-distributed; and that he intended to hold the weight, with none of the girls touching the floor, for a period that would be timed."

In short, the judges said, Wyly should have known better.

It is not recorded what injuries he sustained or whether his slacks wrinkled.

Grants OK'd For Outdoor Rec Projects

The State Game Commission announced the approval of federal grants to Fullerton and Stuart to fund outdoor recreation projects.

The money, the commission said, comes from the land and water conservation fund and will cover 50% of the estimated project cost. The state will put up an additional 25% with the local government paying the remainder.

Stuart will improve its existing ballfield with grading, lights, a backstop, dugouts, bleachers, a fence, storage shed, and drinking fountain. The project has been estimated at $10,400.

The Fullerton project, estimated at $11,000, will include construction of a restroom-storage building, a picnic shelter, picnic tables and grills at the city's present park.

Waldron Proposes Property Tax Exemption Plan

By The Associated Press
Sen. J. James Waldron of Callaway proposed Tuesday a new and different version of a personal property tax exemption bill.

He said his version would simplify administration, ought to make "at least 40 to 50% of the farmers and businessmen very happy," and should meet objections to previously-considered forms of the exemption bill as advocated principally by Sen. J. W. Burbach of Crofton.

Two versions of exemption legislation backed by Burbach were vetoed successfully by Gov. J. James Exon during the 1971 legislative session.

Waldron said his plan would exempt farm livestock, poultry and grain from property taxes altogether.

Those with other taxable personal property, such as business inventories and farm equipment, would receive a $300 credit on their income tax. In the event the firm or person owed less than $300 or no income tax, a refund of the $300 or portion thereof would be made.

Replacing the lost property tax revenue would require about $15 million a year, Waldron estimated. Distribution of this replacement money, obtained from sales or income taxes or other sources, would be distributed 70% to the state school aid fund, and 30% to the state aid fund for cities and counties.

"This distribution method would cut down on costly procedures for reimbursing local government for lost revenue," he said. The Burbach proposals called for local governments to certify losses and be reimbursed for them. The Burbach plans also called for straight percentage exemptions.

"There might be unfairness to some people under my plan, but it would benefit the farmers who need it the most, and benefit western Nebraska where most of the small businesses are located," Waldron said.

The senator estimated the $300 exemption would relieve nearly 50% of business firms of property taxes. And the total exemption of livestock and grain, coupled with the $300 credit on farm machinery, should spare about 40% of the state's farmers from property taxes, he said.

Waldron said he will submit his bill to the 1972 Legislature.

Cross Now Serves As Monument

By SAM THORSON
Outstate Nebraska Bureau
Chadron — Several hundred thousand pairs of eyes cross Pine Ridge along U.S. 385 every year, and come to rest on a giant white cross overlooking the Chadron Creek canyon and Chadron State Park from an outcropping of rock some 200 feet above the highway.

The last thing to be seen by visitors leaving the park, and the last to catch the sunlight at dusk, the cross is an interdenominational symbol of peace erected by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chaulk for the benefit of travelers.

"The idea of putting something of a religious nature up there kind of rolled around in my head for years," said Chaulk, who ranched a mile and a half to the north before his retirement. He and Mrs. Chaulk now live just below the rocky bluff on which the cross was placed some six years ago.

Erecting the cross was no easy matter. A 35-foot utility pole with a 15 1/2-foot crossbar, it had to be hauled up the slope from tree to tree with a block and tackle, upended by hand and set in a five-foot hole in the solid rock. Some 500 feet of power line was installed to keep the cross brightly lit at night.

Most of the actual work, Chaulk said, was done by their daughter Rose, her husband Mike Goffena, and their son Dennis — with the aid of several willing neighbors and three men from Lincoln and Omaha who gave up hunting to pitch in and help, leaving without mentioning their names.

The cross stood for four years as a symbol of spiritual peace. Then, in October, 1969, it became a monument to the Goffena family as well. All three of the Goffenas who helped erect the cross died in a car accident.

"We resolved then to keep it burning," Chaulk said. This fall he and Mrs. Chaulk had a bronze memorial plaque installed at its foot, looking out over the whole valley: "In Memory of Mike-Rose-Dennis Goffena — 1969."

Countless travelers have photographed the cross from the road, and 50 or 60 hikers climb the bluff to see it first hand every week during the summer. Visitors include groups of kids from all over the state, who make the steep climb from nearby Methodist Camp Norwesca. Letters of appreciation have arrived from as far away as Pennsylvania, Michigan and Oregon.

"It's for all denominations to enjoy," said Chaulk.

No Response Planned For Montana Request

By Associated Press
Montie Montana Jr., producer of a Buffalo Bill Wild West show at North Platte last summer, apparently will have to go to court if he expects to receive payment from the state of Nebraska for legal expenses incurred.

Atty. Gen. Clarence A. H. Meyer said Tuesday he plans no response to a letter from a law firm representing Montana, asking payment of costs totaling an apparent $18,677.

A letter dated Dec. 13 from the Santa Ana, Calif., law firm of Nagel, Regan & Davidson, addressed to Meyer with copies to Gov. J. James Exon and others, advised the attorney general to "make arrangements to pay this matter within 10 days of the date of this letter or face litigation to settle our claim."

Attached were bills for legal

Jacobs Will Go On Trial Feb. 28 In Murder Case

Omaha (AP) — Douglas County District Court Judge John Murphy Tuesday set Feb. 28 for the trial of Robert Julian Jacobs, 31, charged with first degree murder in the fatal stabbing of 12-year-old Allen Schmidt of Omaha last October.

Jacobs stood mute at his arraignment Dec. 1 and Judge Murphy entered a plea of innocent for him.

Jacobs is charged with stabbing with intent to kill, wound or maim in connection with the wounding of Allen's 10-year-old brother, Leslie.

services and court costs related to a suit brought against Montana's show by Ringling Bros. Barnum & Bailey Circus, challenging use of the Wild West Show name. The suit was brought after Montana completed the North Platte run and moved to Phoenix, Ariz., to begin a winter tour.

Montana contended his contract with the state guaranteed him exclusive use of the show name, and the state should pay the cost of defending the Ringling Bros. lawsuit.

Assistant Atty. Gen. Mel Kammerlohr reiterated Tuesday that the state's lawyers take the position that the state is not authorized by law to pay these legal costs.

Meyer said that on grounds "we don't owe them anything," there would be no reply to the letter request for payment.

"We are awaiting further steps," he said.

Meyer said Montana recently made arrangements to confer with Kammerlohr on the matter, either Dec. 17 or Dec. 20, but did not follow through on the appointments.

The payment-request letter from the Santa Ana law firm was accompanied by a detailed list of legal costs incurred. The itemization showed part of the costs have been paid, presumably by the show.

Caniglia Says, Make Decision In Three Weeks

Omaha (AP) — Douglas County District Court Judge Sam Caniglia Tuesday gave attorneys for the Little Art Theater three weeks in which to make a decision on a course of action following an attempt by the city to have some films shown at the theater declared obscene.

Several of the theater's films have been confiscated and are being held.

Atty. Walter Matejka said Tuesday he would decide within the next three weeks if he wants a ruling on the legality of the film seizure. After that, he said, a decision will be made on whether the defendants will call for a jury trial.

If a jury trial is requested to decide the issue, Judge Caniglia said he would give defense attorneys the most "immediately available court date" for the case.

Barnett Says Unicameral Should Be Put Full Time

State Sen. Wally Barnett of Lincoln says the Legislature should be put on a full time basis.

Current limitations of 90 legislative days on odd-year unicameral sessions, 60 days on even-year sessions, deprive citizens of a voice in government which they should have, he said. He referred to lack of time for citizens to appear before legislative committees to testify for or against legislation.

Two Lincoln colleagues, joined with Barnett on a panel tie broadcast previewing the coming legislative session, took different positions.

Sen. Roland Luedtke, a chief backer of the constitutional amendment providing limited annual sessions, contended state government has not reached the point where a fulltime legislature is required. He said legislation can be handled adequately under the current format, and the cost of fulltime lawmaking would not

Bonds Approved For UNO Parking

The Legislative Council executive board Tuesday approved a University of Nebraska proposal to issue $190,000 in parking revenue bonds to increase parking space at the University of Nebraska at Omaha campus.

Some 3.16 acres of land fronting on Dodge and 66th Streets will be transformed into surface parking facilities for about 400 cars.

The plan was approved earlier this year by the Board of Regents, but state law requires that it also receive endorsement from the executive board.

The land would be suitable for future construction of high rise parking facilities.

"We must solve this parking problem if UNO is to continue

Explosion, Fire Damage Church In Clearwater

Clearwater (AP) — Fire following an explosion in a furnace caused extensive damage to Concordia Lutheran Church in Clearwater late Monday night, but there were no injuries.

Fire departments from Orchard, Neligh and Ewing assisted Clearwater firemen in battling the blaze, which was brought under control in about two hours. The alarm was turned in about 11 p.m., a couple of hours after members of the congregation had attended a Christmas program in a nearby school building.

A gas company representative said a meter located at the curb in front of the church had been struck by a car, causing a sharp increase in gas pressure to the furnace.

The furnace was located in the front part of the church, and damage to that area was most extensive, with lesser damage farther back in the building.

No dollar estimate of the loss was given.

Concordia Lutheran Church has a membership of about 350.

Fire Marshal Says 8 Fires Ruled Arson

By United Press International
State Fire Marshal Joe Pluta said Tuesday all eight of the fires in the Adams area over the weekend have been ruled arson cases.

Pluta said the conclusion was reached on the basis of investigations conducted by the Gage county sheriff's office and the deputy state fire marshal assigned to the Beatrice area, Don McRoberts.

However, the fire marshal said, no definite leads as to suspects have been uncovered and the investigations are being continued.

Sunday night, three abandoned houses in the area were set on fire. Also set afire were a granary and a shed. On Saturday, a corn crib was set on fire and also several grass fires were set.

to grow and develop," Rex Engebretson, director of campus planning and space utilization, told the senators.

"I know," Sen. Richard Proud of Omaha said. "It's the biggest mess out there I've ever seen."

The bonds would be retired over a 10-year period, using parking fees accumulated during that time.

In other action, the board decided to schedule reports from legislative study committees for Jan. 6.

Will Convene at Noon

The 1972 Legislature will convene at noon on Jan. 4, and cannot schedule public hearings on proposed bills until the following week.

Thus, Sen. William Swanson of Lincoln reasoned, the afternoon of Jan. 6 could be cleared for submission of committee reports to the full Legislature.

Senators decided to forego this year the Legislative Council report session which normally precedes legislative sessions.

In preparation for the 1972 session, the board voted to refer all corrective bills prepared by the revisor of statutes to the floor for debate rather than send them to committees for hearing.

Parole Board Recommends Commutation For Two Men

By United Press International
The State Parole Board Tuesday recommended the Nebraska Pardon Board consider commutation of life sentences for parole consideration purposes for two men.

The parole unit denied a third request for commutation and deferred for six months consideration of another. The board also granted paroles for 29 state prison, men's and women's reformatory inmates while denying three.

2-Car Crash Fatal To Tot

Kimball (AP) — Nebraska's record traffic toll continued its climb with the death of a three-month-old baby boy, Joseph W. Mantegna of Kimball Tuesday.

State Patrol troopers said the baby was a passenger in a car driven by 54-year-old Mrs. Beatrice Fleming of Kimball.

Her car was in collision with a vehicle driven by Deborah Palmer, 16, of Bushnell, three miles west of here on U.S. 30.

The patrol said the Fleming vehicle was westbound and the Palmer vehicle eastbound at the time of the crash.

Mrs. Fleming, the child's grandmother, and the child's mother, 21-year-old Mrs. Judith Montegna, were hospitalized in satisfactory condition at the Kimball County Hospital suffering from injuries received in the crash.

Deborah Palmer, her 13-year-old sister Lori and the girl's mother, Lulu, were also reported hospitalized in satisfactory condition in Kimball County Hospital with injuries received in the crash.

The death raised the 1971 state traffic death toll to 462 for the year, ten more ahead of the record pace set in 1968.

Seven Posthumous Awards Presented

Omaha (UPI) — Seven posthumous awards were presented by the Army to the mother of Spec. 4 Ronald E. Embree, P. H. Cole. The second of eight educational programs is of Tabor, Iowa, killed in Vietnam action in January of 1970. Medals included the Bronze Star, Purple Heart, Army Commendation Medal and Good Conduct Medal.

The one life imprisonment commutation request denied was for a 75-year-old former Omaha man, Joe Guzwece. He was originally convicted of first degree murder in 1924 in connection with the death of an Omaha police officer.

A year later, he received another life sentence for first degree murder — that time for the slaying of a prison guard.

Parole Board Chairman John Greenholtz said the man told the board he wanted to stay where he was. He said of the 47 years he has served, most of them were in the state hospital.

His records showed he escaped from there in 1953 and was not apprehended until 1956, when he was found living in Florida.

Deferred for six months was the case of Emerson Brodis, 62, Omaha, who was convicted of second degree murder in connection with the shooting of Robert Lee Welch in 1962.

Commutation recommendations were given to Dewey R. Thompson, 35, of South Carolina, sentenced for the robbery slaying of a man who gave him a ride in 1958; and Robert Raue, 44, Omaha, convicted of second degree murder in connection with the death of Betty Lou Schulte of Omaha in 1961.

Equalization Unit Sets Meet To Adjust Rates

State Tax Commissioner William Peters announced Tuesday that the State Board of Equalization will meet 9 a.m., Dec. 27, to adjust Nebraska's income and sales taxes, presumably upward.

Just how much the taxes would have to be raised from the 13% income and 2 1/2% sales level set by the board Nov. 15, Peters would not say. However, most officials agree the income tax rate will be somewhere around 14%.

Secretary of State Allen J. Beermann said, "It certainly appears it has to go to 14% or he (Peters) wouldn't have called us into session. The question is whether it may be raised to 15%."

Beermann earlier released preliminary figures which indicated the rates would have to rise to between 14% or 15%.

The adjustment in tax rates is necessary because of a recently enacted federal income tax cut.

The officials reason since Nebraska's income tax rate is a percentage of the federal income tax paid. The state's rates must go up in order to bring in the same amount of revenue.

Under the law the board can adjust the state's rates within 30 days of enactment of federal income tax revisions. The meeting will be the board's fourth since it first undertook the job of setting the tax rates this fall.

Two of those times the five-man board's three Republicans (Beermann, Treasurer Wayne Swanson and Auditor Ray A. C. Johnson) in what was termed "politically motivated" actions delayed setting the rates in hopes of the passage of the federal measure before the board's statutory Nov. 15 deadline.

a child's world

By PHYLLIS WOOLLEN

Dear Mrs. Woollen:

We have a rather embarrassing problem on our hands with our seven year old son. At his age he still wets his bed at night.

We have tried everything under the sun to try to get him to stop, but there doesn't seem to be a thing we can do. Because of his problem, he is unable to do many of the things a boy his age normally would do, such as spend the night with a friend, or go on camping trips with his Boy Scout Troop.

Truthfully, I am sick and tired of having to change his sheets every day, and just plain frustrated with the whole situation.

I have heard there is a machine that can be used. Do you know about this, or there is something else I can do I certainly could use any advice you might have.

EXHAUSTED

The first step to take in a situation such as this is to make an appointment with your pediatrician or family doctor. It is quite possible that there is a physical disorder that may be causing your son's nighttime bedwetting. He may be bothered with a urinary infection or some other physical malfunction that may cause him to lack bladder control.

If the doctor rules out a physical problem as the cause of his bedwetting, there are other factors that must be considered.

This mother's frustration and worry is a fairly natural reaction; however, the child, too, is in all likelihood, just as concerned, worried and frustrated. If it is a physical problem, it can be controlled; if it is not, putting pressure on the child certainly will not cure it.

It is important to remember that the bedwetting will stop. When or why cannot be answered. Let the child know that you are sympathetic to his embarrassment. Whether he verbalizes these feelings or not, he, too, suffers by not being able to participate in overnight activities with his friends.

The more pressure that is exerted on the child to stop, the more likely it is that the behavior will continue. The best approach is to learn to live with it silently until it ends—and it will end.

On the other hand, if the bedwetting is accompanied by other emotional problems in school or with the family, it would be wise to seek professional counsel.

Often, the problem of bedwetting can occur long after a child has been toilet trained; or with a child who previously has not been known to wet his bed at night. In these cases, the problem is often related to the birth of a new baby in the family, or other changes in the situation at home.

(This discussion was through the cooperation and supervision of the Child Guidance Center staff. Readers are invited to submit their questions to: A Child's World, The Lincoln Star, 926 P St., Lincoln, Neb. 68501.)

"Upon the eaves, all round about we hand these decorations out, and Merry Christmas to you shout." The thought and subject of the Christmas card has not changed since Louis Prang and Company of Boston made this card about 1874-1895. (Hallmark Collection)

By RALPH AND TERRY KOVEL

The eight-cent postage rate will probably not discourage the millions of Christmas cards sent this year, yet it was the one-cent postage rate that first encouraged the idea of sending a card for Christmas. The penny post was introduced in England in 1840.

The first Christmas card was sent by Henry Cole. He was the man who encouraged the penny post, the use of perforated stamps and postcards. The Christmas card was a popular custom in England by 1850.

Louis Prang of Boston is known as the "father of the American Christmas card." His lithographed cards that were made during the 1860s are still prized. He even organized a contest to improve the design of greeting cards in 1880.

By LINDA OLIG

That dream house may soon turn into a nightmare — unless much thought is given to certain characteristics and features you think you may desire; and also, and often more important, to fitting the mortgage payments into your budget.

Last week we mentioned the fact that persons seeking a home often want every convenience imaginable — that is, until they realize how much more, in actual dollars and cents, those features will cost.

Then when eliminating some of these features for the sake of cutting costs, many individuals err by forgetting to give a certain degree of consideration to the floor plan, the house's liveability, and much, much more. Remember that a home is, above all, a place in which you and your family will reside for a number of years and that your convenience and comfort should reign above all other considerations — a home is not strictly a show place.

Another factor to be considered when house hunting is the cost and how it will fit into your budget. This is the point at which most loan companies will step in. They will evaluate your income and expenditures — including other payments and debts — before allowing you that loan. Most firms recommend not spending more than 22 per cent of your monthly income on mortgage payments. A good index of how much you should plan to spend for a house is not more than two and a half times your annual income.

Another interesting fact learned from the salesmen at Action Realty Co., Inc., when we sat in on one of their sales meetings is that loan companies attempt, in any way possible, to keep you from purchasing a home that is too far beyond your ability to pay; and they also are reluctant to grant a loan when the purchaser is then making payments on home furnishings.

Mortgages are rarely paid off — but that fact is not as dismal as it sounds—for families are constantly on the go these days, moving from one city to another and one location to another within the same city or metropolitan area. Homes are being bought and sold more and more frequently each year—as families move from one stage in the life cycle to another or as the families increase or decrease in size—and, as a result, old mortgages are traded for new ones.

OPEN TONIGHT & THURSDAY 'TIL 9

We will be closed from 4:30 p.m. Friday until Monday at 9:30 a.m.

This holiday also brings forth many other pleasures for the celebrants. Traditional drinks such as the Wassail bowl, egg-nog, Tom & Jerry Glug, hot-mulled wine and many others are served in an atmosphere of much joy. No Christmas table is complete without fruit-cakes, which usually are flavored with rum, brandy or wine. Cookies, prepared in many forms, carry out the theme of the holiday season. It is an altogether joyous occasion highlighted, perhaps, by the traditional Christmas day dinner.

Turkey, ham and roast beef have become America's favorite main courses for this dinner. Whichever entree is selected, it is best when prepared and served with wine. While many of the items of food found in today's kitchen have been synthesized, no synthetic can take the place of wine. Cooks throughout the world have found that nothing enhances the flavor and taste of food as does wine. Wine is the most healthful of all foods and may be enjoyed by everyone in the family. During the cooking process, all alcohol is dissipated and the caloric content of wine will not add even one ounce of body weight — thus pleasing the weight watchers. Food prepared with wine also may be consumed in complete safety by diabetics.

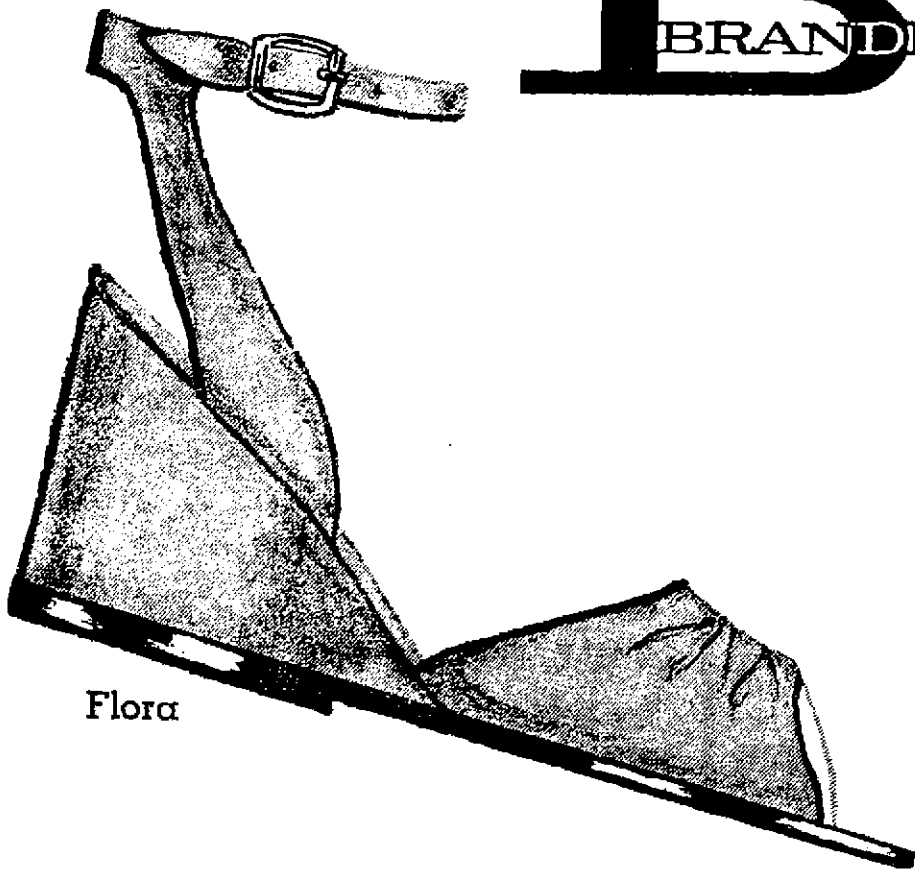

Serving the appropriate wine with this holiday dinner adds a finishing touch to the feast. With rich soup served on this occasion, one might offer a glass of Plaza Dieja 1966 cream sherry. The roast turkey would be perfect with a fragrant and delightful Rhone wine such as a Chateau-Neuf-du-Pape Domaine de Grand Coulet 1961. The juicy baked ham would be greatly enhanced when served with a glass of Amourose — 'the delicate Rose' from Anjou in the Loire Valley. As for the hearty and robust roast prime rib, the perfect complement would be a "big" wine such as Chambertin Clos deBeze 1967 — a very great Burgundy. The fruit cake, pies and nuts served as dessert would be perfect with a glass of Chateau Suidiraut 1962 or Chateau Rayne — Vigneau 1964 — both outstanding Sauternes — making this Christmas dinner one to enjoy and remember. Whatever the occasion, wine is always in good taste.

An ideal menu — popular and easy to prepare — could include:

- Citrus cup
- Roast prime rib with horseradish sauce
- Straw potatoes
- Popovers
- Tomatoes Clamart
- Salad with red wine dressing
- Ginger pudding with filbert sauce

Chambertin Clos de Beze 1967 might be served with the meal, and Chateau Suidaraut 1962 with dessert.

Opening lead — king of diamonds.

Here is a typical hand that illustrates the high effectiveness of the grand slam force convention. North's jump to five notrump directed South the three top trump honors and to bid seven hearts with two of South duly obliged.

However, while the grand slam was really excellent contract, it turned out that South had to play the hand extremely well, or he would have gone down. He realized at once that making the contract would be no problem at all if the spades were divided normally — that is, 3-3 or 4-2 — and he consequently directed all his energies toward coping with a 5-1 decision.

After winning the diamond lead with the ace, he drew five rounds of trumps, producing this position:

Declarer then played another trump, discarding a club from dummy, and East found that he could not afford to part with a spade, for South would then be able to make all the tricks by ruffing a spade in his hand. So East discarded the Jack of clubs instead, hoping his partner had the queen.

South thereupon cashed the A-K-Q of spades, discarding two diamonds from his hand, and then played the ace of clubs, hoping to find East by now with the unguarded king. When the monarch duly appeared, South found himself exceptionally well rewarded for the careful steps he had taken to guard against the 5-1 spade break.

Abby: a parent's prayer

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Two weeks ago I was flying from Los Angeles to Chicago, and had as my seat partner, a soldier on his way home from Vietnam for a short leave.

Waiting for him at home was his young wife, a small son, and a new baby daughter which he had never seen. His enthusiasm was easy to share and we talked the whole way.

Before we parted, he smiled and said, "Thanks for talking to me. You remind me so much of my Mom." Then he added, "I have to go back to Vietnam for five more months, then I want to come back and be the best Daddy in the world. May I share something with you?"

He then pulled from his wallet a well worn piece of paper—or perhaps I should say TWO pieces, because it had been literally worn in two and all around the edges. It was something which he had torn from your column several years ago, he said.

"I have read it over and over," he said, "and I want to be that kind of parent."

I pray to a kind God to protect that young man, and give him a chance to come back home. The world needs more parents who feel that way. Thanks for printing it again. It should be printed often.

Airport Authority Approves Fourth Car Rental Agency

By LYNN ZERSCHLING
Star Staff Writer

The Airport Authority Tuesday agreed to grant space at the Municipal Airport to Novo Leasing Co., Inc., of Lincoln for its car rental business despite strenuous objections from the three car rental agencies currently operating at the airport.

Representatives of Avis, Hertz and National Car Rental warned that an additional car rental company could decrease the quality of their service, cut down on airport revenues and could cause them to go broke.

Despite their protests the authority, in a 4 to 1 vote, offered airport space to Novo Leasing. Chairman Richard Joyce cast the dissenting vote with members Dick Chapin, Robert Phillips, Joe Hampton and Fred Eiche supporting the measure.

Three-Year Lease
The agreement calls for a three-year lease with all four companies, beginning Jan. 1, 1972. In addition, payments must be kept current and choice locations for parking and counter space goes to the firm doing the greatest volume of business.

The authority also resolved that in case one of the four agencies fails, its space at the airport will be left vacant.

Atty. Norman Krivosha, reported that Novo Leasing will dismiss the lawsuits which it filed against the Airport Authority last August. The suits charge conspiracy against three authority members and asked for monetary damages.

Avis representative Seth Kaminsky argued that Lincoln can "barely support three rental-car companies, let alone four."

'Barely Keep Afloat'
He said that although competition between the three national companies is fierce they "can barely keep afloat now."

In addition Kaminsky noted that there are 150 airports across the country comparable in size to Lincoln. Of that number only four have allowed four car rental agencies to do business at their airports—and of these, only two have succeeded.

Attorney Thomas Pansing, representing Lincoln Leasing, a locally-owned affiliate of Hertz, said the only people to benefit with expansion of car rental services at the airport would be Novo Leasing.

Chapin replied, "We didn't ask them to come in—they asked us."

Chapin added that he felt the lower rates resulting from the competition could only benefit the public.

Richard Pearson, manager of Omaha-Lincoln National Car Rental told the authority that Novo Leasing would be taking the business which is the "cream off the top of our profits." He explained that the three national companies provide service for both inter-city pick-ups and long distance trips. He said that Novo Leasing will operate only on the inter-city basis.

Krivosha called many of these arguments "smoke screens."

He said, "You're told if you do this, rates will get lower—but who benefits? The customers do and isn't that the purpose of competition?"

Not License For Monopoly
He added that providing the airport with car rental service is "not a license for a monopoly." Krivosha pointed out that there is room for another operator at the airport.

Novo Leasing is prepared to gamble $28,000 over a three-year period. He stated, "We'll take our chances with the competition."

Also present at the session was a representative of Ford Rent-A-Car who said he wished his agency to be considered for the fourth slot.

Absentee Rate Reported At 10% In Five Schools

Absenteeism due to illness continued Tuesday in the Lincoln Public Schools as five buildings reported more than 10% of their students were staying home for health reasons.

School officials said the schools were Calvert and Meadow Lane Elementary Schools, Mickle and Pound Junior Highs and Southeast High School.

Major causes of the absenteeism has been a virus-like ailment that brings high temperatures school officials said. Some absenteeism was also attributed to coughs and colds.

Year End Meet Slated

The executive committee of the Lincoln Foundation will meet Dec. 30 to wind up business for the 1971 year. The meeting is to begin at 1:30 p.m. in the Lincoln Center Building.

ENDORSED

Sporting "mod" glasses, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota tells of his receiving the presidential endorsement of 68 state legislators in Minneapolis.

The former vice president indicated he may announce his candidacy in January.

Economic Battlefield Staked Out

Washington (AP) — House Speaker Carl Albert staked out the economy Tuesday as the battleground for next year's presidential election as he predicted the Democrats will defeat President Nixon.

"The only thing that can beat us is ourselves," the Oklahoma Democrat said at a news conference in which he praised the record of the recently adjourned first session of the 92nd Congress.

Albert said Congress took the initiative in proposing and enacting legislation designed to cut down on unemployment and inflation, twin ills which he blamed on Nixon.

He said the administration instituted a deliberate slowdown of the economy in an effort to control inflation but produced instead the highest unemployment rate in 10 years while failing to lower the cost of living.

Albert said the Democrats stand ready to provide new initiatives if they are needed to spur the economy when Congress reconvenes next month.

"The Democratic Party has historically been ready to use the public sector to help solve the problems of the economy," he said.

Albert devoted nearly all of the 40-minute news conference to the state of the economy, which he said is "a problem the American people consider the most important now confronting the nation." In response to questions, he said the main goal of U.S. foreign policy should be to improve the image of the United States around the world.

Albert said Nixon's meetings with the heads of various nations will be a step in that direction. He also backed Nixon's devaluation of the dollar, saying he hopes it will stimulate the economy.

Modular Homes Firm Moving Into Air Park

A California-based firm received the go-ahead Tuesday to move to Lincoln Air Park West to manufacture modular homes with the Airport Authority's approval of a three-year lease with the corporation.

L. W. Mattson, president of Bruin Engineering, agreed to pay a $4,225-a-month for a three-year lease on a building in the Air Park, beginning April 1.

Mattson told the authority that in order to construct three houses a day, his firm will have to employ 140 people. However, he added that his company will have to discover if there is a market for prefabricated housing in this area.

He said his one big problem is one of timing since most of his equipment is "tied up" in California. In addition to building modular homes he said his company will also manufacture anti-smog devices and plastic bowling pins.

In other action, executive director Rolland Harr reported that no proposals were submitted for the salvage removal of the steam plant. He said proposals were mailed to five salvage companies, but no one responded. He said he will advertise again.

Harr also said that due to weather conditions it was necessary to shut down the project involving the overlay of one of the runways until spring.

The authority's attorney Chauncey Barney reported that negotiations are completed with Ralph Reed to buy 18 acres of property located at the north end of the airport.

In other action United Airlines reported a 14.4% increase in passenger traffic during the month of November over the previous year. Frontier Airlines reported a 7.9% increase for the same period. Overall passenger traffic increased 12% over November, 1970.

The state's only commuter airline, Trans-Nebraska, reported handling 113 passengers last month.

LES Supervisor Is Appointed To New Position

Lincoln Electric System (LES) service supervisor Jim Kalal has been appointed administrative assistant by LES administrator Walter Canney.

Canney said Tuesday that Kalal's first major job will be to combine, consolidate and establish a full personnel program for LES employees. Kalal will take over the post Jan 1.

Kala was first employed in 1957 by the Consumers Public Power District. He attended the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, is married and has three children.

U.S. Puts Strict Air Pollution Standards On Power Plants

Washington (UPI) — The government imposed strict air pollution standards on five types of new plants Tuesday and said the resulting costs could boost some electric bills as much as 9%.

The rules, retroactive to plants which started construction Aug. 17, require installation of the most sophisticated air emission controls on non-nuclear electric generating plants, big incinerators and factories making portland cement, sulfuric acid and nitric acid.

The five categories were picked by the Environmental Protection Administration (EPA) as among the nation's worst polluters and as industries for which good pollution control equipment has been developed.

The rules will have little impact on air quality for several years because only new plants, plus expanded or modified old ones, are covered.

A Big Step
But EPA Administrator William D. Ruckelshaus called the move "a big step in the pollution control strategy" which also includes — by mid-1975 — emission controls on every industrial facility in the nation, new or old.

"This will result in the kind of preventive medicine that we have not applied in the past," Ruckelshaus said. Eventually, he said, as new low-emission plants begin operating, "it will significantly affect air quality."

Ruckelshaus told a news conference that the costs would be "reasonable," a contention disputed by many businessmen since the standards were first proposed in August.

For electric plants, he estimated the maximum increase in consumer electric bills at 9% and said it would be much less in most cases.

Most of the incinerators covered are municipal ones, and Ruckelshaus said the added cost would be less than $1 a year per citizen.

He estimated the cost increase for portland cement — the primary ingredient of concrete — at 5%, that for sulfuric acid also at 5% and that for nitric acid's most typical product, ammonium nitrate, at 1%.

The EPA said the complex rules would cut all pollution emissions for new plants, compared with uncontrolled old ones, by more than 90% in all five categories and by 99% in some cases.

Ruckelshaus said the five industries were the first of 35 to 40 for which rules will be issued within two years.

Those tentatively scheduled next are petroleum refineries, steel, and aluminum and asphalt plants, sludge incinerators and smelters handling scrap lead, aluminum, brass and bronze.

10 In Glee Club Get Free Trip

Only about ten members of the Nebraska Varsity Glee Club will have all expenses paid to the Orange Bowl in Miami. A Sunday Journal and Star story erroneously reported all 53 would go free.

Only those who sold 135 or more tickets in a raffle will have all expenses covered, according to Steve Schrader, volunteer bookkeeper for the raffle, in which the prize was a seat on the glee club bus to Miami. Tickets were also sold to other travelers.

The winner of the raffle was also incorrectly reported. Dorothy Edwards — Not Evans — won, and was awarded $240 in lieu of passage because she was unable to make the trip.

A QUESTION IS FIELDLED . . . by Ruckelshaus, right. Beside him is John Middleton, deputy assistant administrator of EPA.

Europe's Trade Offers Insufficient

©The New York Times

By CLYDE H. FARNSWORTH

Brussels — With some tensions between the United States and Europe removed by the currency realignment and suppression of the American import surcharge, the United States told the European Economic Community (Common Market) Tuesday that the bloc's trade offers were still unsatisfactory.

American chief negotiator William D. Eberle, in day-long talks with the EEC commission, the bloc's executive authority which is empowered to make limited concessions, left unsaid what leverage Washington retained.

While the negotiations are being conducted on the basis of "reciprocal good faith," which has marked the monetary-trade talks since the Rome meeting of finance ministers three weeks ago, the United States implicitly retains the option to reimpose the surcharge.

Prior To Devaluation
Eberle, in comments to newsmen, insisted that the Nixon administration had to have a "successful" trade package before submitting a bill to Congress authorizing the devaluation of the dollar. He said he hoped the trade talks would be wound up by Jan. 18, when Congress reconvenes.

Eberle, after further talks with commission negotiator Theodoros Hizez, who is closely advised by the trade officers from the member states, will return to Washington late Wednesday.

The American negotiator declined to confirm rumors that the United States had asked the community to come up with a new, more attractive negotiating mandate. He did say, however, that he did not expect the community would put "all its cards on the table in the first round."

Both Eberle and commission representatives said the opening talks were "useful" in clarifying the issues.

Essentially the United States is demanding concessions for its exporters of grains, tobacco and citrus fruits to Europe. Washington feels that community decisions covering these products are discriminatory.

Furthermore, Washington wants commitments from the community to discuss, on a longer range basis, fundamental changes in community agricultural policies and in policies that have led to the network of preferential trading agreements the bloc has signed with Mediterranean countries.

U.S. Seeks Compensation

And finally the United States is seeking compensation for trade lost by the imminent enlargement of the community and by the planned construction of the giant European free trade zone.

The community has been unsympathetic to the demands, but is prepared to make some gestures to try to restore trade harmony.

It has offered to stockpile an additional one million tons of grain and reduce export subsidies so that community grain sales do not compete with those of the United States in foreign markets. It is willing to make a gesture in favor of American citrus growers — one that was already made before the monetary crisis broke out — and will discuss over the longer term the tobacco grievance.

For concessions granted, it wants concessions in return in terms of liberalized American trade. None of this appears good enough for Washington.

My friend and I are having an argument on how long it will take the sun to burn out. I say never and he says in a few million years.

—Teen, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Physicists are divided over this one the same as you and your friend. General agreement, however, is that the sun has burned for 4.6 billion years and has another 5.5 billion years before it slowly begins to cool to zero output.

Old Sol will be around much longer than either of you, needless to say.

I am 19-years-old and want to go to a school offering courses on weather forecasting.

—Leo Lebsack, Pleasant Dale

ACTION LINE: According to Gordon Lippert of the National Weather Service, you can obtain a complete list of some 24 schools that offer courses leading toward knowledge of meteorology, including University of Colorado, Colorado State University and Iowa State University. The University of Nebraska, says Lippert, has a limited informational course. Your library may have or can obtain for you the June, 1967, issue of "Weatherwise" magazine containing further information on schools. The place to write for the school list is American Meteorology Society, 45 Beacon St., Boston, Mass. 02108.

Lippert notes also that an excellent source of training is the military and that a great number of weather forecasters come from this source after they finish their hitch.

How can I obtain autographed pictures of the Nebraska football team for our young son for Christmas?

—Mrs. Lloyd Hinn, Rushville

ACTION LINE: There are no autographed pictures of the team available, says the University of Nebraska-Lincoln sports information office. There are team pictures available through Lincoln photographers Edholm and Blomgren, 318 So. 12th St., the firm that snapped the team portrait. You can order by mail for $4.11 and that includes postage and tax.

There was a football signing party Dec. 13 for $2 with proceeds going to support the UNL library. Sorry you missed that.

I would like to submit an article to the "American History Illustrated" magazine, but don't know how to do it. Do they pay and use pictures, etc.?

—History Buff, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: "American History Illustrated", published by the National Historical Society in Gettysburg, Pa., accepts articles on virtually anything dealing with American history before 1950.

William Davis, managing editor, suggests you inquire before submitting your article and outline what you plan to write to the magazine can save you the time by telling in advance if they will accept that article as it may have already been covered.

Generally, manuscripts should be between 3,000 and 4,000 words and a ribbon copy—not a duplicate. Art is not required, but the magazine welcomes your suggestions for illustrations; material is paid for, but the amount depends on the length, importance and amount of material.

Inquiries should be mailed to: Robert H. Fowler, Box 1831, Harrisburg, Pa. 17105.

I would like to know what authority the meter maids in downtown Lincoln have to ticket a vehicle before the meter expires. I was a victim.

—Disgusted, Pleasant Dale

ACTION LINE: The only cause would be when a person overextends the parking privilege time at a particular meter. If a meter is for a 30-minute time limit, you cannot "feed" the meter for an additional 30 minutes, but must vacate the parking spot or (as perhaps in your case) get a ticket.

A relative of mine on the coast has been bugging me about the University of Nebraska-Lincoln football team's pass defense. He says it stinks and that in the Oklahoma game we should have double teamed Jon Harrison. What can I tell this would-be coach?

—Miss D.G., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Two things: Bill Kosch, assigned to cover Harrison, is normally a zone-playing safety, but he was switched to man to man coverage. He did get beat several times due to playing the unfamiliar position. Double teaming would have allowed another split end to be clear at times.

NU's pass defense was tops in the Big 8, allowing 117 yards average per game and 1,404 for the year.

These persons are usually in the forefront taking a chance on hunches and special abilities. The Aquarius native is especially good in a financial sense, for those born under Capricorn, Aquarius harmonizes with Libra, Gemini and Sagittarius. Aquarius often is drawn to Leo, but it could be a matter of opposites attracting each other. Aquarius and Aries formerly were considered harmonious. But, of late, such relationships have not shown great lasting power.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Friends may respond in manner which surprises. Be self-reliant. Many now come to you with their problems. Be concerned, but don't push aside all of your own interests. You have no need to borrow trouble.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Be ready for added responsibility, additional assignment. Nothing comes easy, but you can achieve added recognition. Adhere to your own style. Be original, independent. Male partner could be misinformed.

CANCER (June 21-July 20): Hold off on journeys. If possible, long-range plans now are subject to change. You have misgivings about what appeared to be sure thing. Pay heed to inner voice. If you don't know—do nothing.

Work, Fun On Tap For NU's Band

A parade, a halftime show, a couple of concerts, some sightseeing, a lot of practice and some fun in the sun are all on tap for the Cornhusker Marching Band the week of Dec. 28-Jan. 2.

It is the band's second straight New Year's trip to the Orange Bowl and third bowl trip in as many years.

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln's marching band will leave Tuesday for Miami and the Orange Bowl. They will be back in Lincoln during the early morning hours of Jan. 3, after having spent the previous day at Disney World near Orlando, Fla.

The day of arrival in Florida the band's jazz ensemble will perform at the Beach Park in Hollywood.

Hollywood will be home base for the bandmen, who entertain spectators during their practice sessions at Dowd Field and also have a concert set for Wednesday night in the City Park.

Friday night there will be a four-mile hike—known as the Orange Bowl Parade. Saturday the band will take part in the famed Orange Bowl halftime extravaganza.

Sunday will be a day of fun and relaxation, with the stop at Disney World a highlight of the trip before a night flight home.

Great Teaching Campaign Tops Last Year's Total

Nebraska Wesleyan University's Great Teaching Program has surpassed the total raised last year, according to Chairman Harry Seward, Lincoln insurance executive.

Seward reported to campaign workers that $22,922 had been paid or pledged through Dec. 16, with some 30% of an initial 400 prospects still to be contacted.

Last year's drive for support of Nebraska Wesleyan's efforts to retain and attract distinguished faculty totaled $22,000. No dollar goal had been set for this year's program.

NWU Receives Science Grant

Nebraska Wesleyan University has received a $65,580 grant from the National Science Foundation for a 1972 summer institute in physical science for secondary school teachers.

The program is under the direction of Dr. Walter R. French Jr., head of the department of physics at Nebraska Wesleyan.

The federal grant will fund some 40 participants from across the nation in a combined Introductory Physical Science and Physical Science II program.

POSTCARD by Star

We went down to see friends off on a great cruise ship the other chill night. Off to warm and blue Hawaii. "Cruise with us to Paradise."

All through the warm-bright ship, the stewards hustled new, polished baggage. Glistening buckles and soft tan leather. In the stateroom you could hear the popping of champagne corks.

Aloha deh, rich people! It will soon be grass skirt weather for the people on the cruise ship.

☆☆☆

We walked around on deck a little. The winches were squealing. Hatch covers rattling. On the upper decks they were throwing paper streamers. The band was playing "Beyond the Reef."

(Nobody sends me to warm Hawaii for Christmas. They just give me a pair of gloves.)

Aloha oe! The water widens between the ship and the dock. The paper streamers hang from the rails. A ship sailing is a brave thing.

I went home and put on some Hawaiian records and read a paperback called "Jungle Passion."

"He stood breathless under the banyan tree as the lithe brown girl dropped her pareu and moved under the silent waterfall..."

That is a better Hawaii than the cruise people will find on arrival at Aloha Tower.

The paperback business is a money maker—I'd like to get into it myself. I'd do it, but am not geared for such passionate writing.

The successful paperback is full of suburban hi-de-ho you wouldn't believe. I don't believe it anyway. I can't find it in my suburbs. (Maybe I'm on the wrong block.)

Anyway, that's the formula: Boy meets Girl meets Boy meets whoever is knocking on the door.

The cover sells the paperback. Bright varnished covers. This book shows the brown doll, bare as a radish. Breathless is standing in the background getting an eyeful. (He could get busted on a Peeping Tom rap.)

"Jungle Passion" is mostly about playboy life in the warm islands.

But playboy life is not like that in the islands. No more than my suburb is like the paperback suburbs.

You don't find that kind of living, except maybe at Quinn's in Papete. And the girls at Quinn's—well, I saw one of them break a chair on her boy friend's head one passionate night.

They keep the orchestra up on a high stand at Quinn's. So the drums don't get broken during the action. Who needs that kind of jungle passion?

The suburbs are mainly chicks with curlers shopping the supermarkets. And the islands are full of vahines who've lost a lot of front teeth. That is the passionate fact, more's the pity.

The paperback life is mostly on paper.

Anyway, I read "Jungle Passion". What else to do when cruise ships have sailed?

Breathless did a little wrestling with the brown chick. Then he wrestled with his soul.

By and by, the vahine got tired of watching the one-sided wrestling match.

She powdered off with a brown island boy who could appreciate a coconut cookie when he saw one.

Provincialism Not Involved

There was little or no provincialism involved in the selection of Auburn's Pat Sullivan and Cornell's Ed Marinaro as the one-two finishers in the Heisman Trophy balloting.

A publication called Gridiron separated the voting into sections and in every section those two led the vote count.

Below the top two, however, provincialism was clearly evident. Nebraska's Jerry Tagge ranked fifth in the Midwest voting, seventh in both the Southwest and Far West.

Here is how the voting went by sections:

East: 1—Ed Marinaro, Cornell; 2—Pat Sullivan, Auburn; 3—Lyndell Mitchell, Penn State; 4—Greg Pruitt, Oklahoma; 5—Walt Patulski, Notre Dame; 6—Johnny Musso, Alabama; 7—Jack Mildren, Oklahoma.

South: 1—Sullivan; 2—Marinaro; 3—Musso; 4—Pruitt; 5—Mitchell; 6—Terry Beasley, Auburn; 7—Chuck Ealey, Toledo.

Midwest: 1—Marinaro; 2—Sullivan; 3—Pruitt; 4—Ealey; 5—Jerry Tagge, Nebraska; 6—Eric Allen, Michigan State; 7—Mildren.

Southwest: 1—Sullivan, 2—Marinaro; 3—Pruitt; 4—Mildren; 5—Musso, 6—Robert Newhouse, Houston; 7—Tagge

Far West: 1—Marinaro, 2—Sullivan, 3—Pruitt; 4—Bob Moore, Oregon; 5—Mildren; 6—Musso; 7—Tagge

National Anthem A Sign

Lee Trevino, the year's top golfer, also is one of the year's top football fanatics. After he blew his chances this fall in the Heritage Classic with an eight on the par-3 14th hole en route to an opening round 78, he passed up the press interview.

"Tell the press I shot 78 and I'm going home to watch the football games," he told a PGA official.

The next day Lee improved to 71 and came to meet the press. He explained that he had watched three football games on television Thanksgiving Day, and admitted: "I'll tell you what kind of day it was. At one o'clock in the morning, I heard them playing the National Anthem on TV, and I said, 'Hot dog, another football game.'"

At Alabama's awards banquet, Southern Cal coach John McKay told the Crimson Tide gridders, "You won 11 games because you wanted to win more than the teams you played. You're going to be playing a team in Miami which is going to be wanting to win too."

"The team which wins down there will be the team which wants to win the most."

The Orange Bowl not only is playing host to a football game on New Year's Night that will decide the national championship in that sport, but it also will be host for the NCAA Soccer Championships in Miami on Dec. 28-30.

Another Crowded Press Box

It's hard to imagine how any press box could be more crowded than was the one at Norman, Okla., for the Nebraska-Oklahoma game, but the Orange Bowl game New Year's Night may top it.

The Orange Bowl press committee is screening applications very carefully this year because of the large number of writers wishing to cover the game. One nice thing about these kind of crowded conditions is that most everyone there is working and you don't have to listen to those small-townners, who are only there to cheer.

Players performing in this weekend's NFL divisional playoffs are paid only one-fourteenth of whatever their seasonal salary is, but to the winners, a pot of gold lies ahead.

In next weekend's conference championship games, each member of the winning team receives $8,500 and each loser $5,500. The two winners also are guaranteed another $7,500 even as they lose in the Jan. 16 Super Bowl. If they win, each player gets another $15,000.

Oklahoma's former Heisman Trophy winner Steve Owens was known for his three and four-yard smashes that totaled more than 100 yards in most games. "In our offense, four yards is a busted play," present Sooner star Greg Pruitt told Owens.

While folks, who remain in the colds of Nebraska this holiday season can't hunt doves because the Legislature refuses to make them a game bird, those who want to take their gun to Miami with them can.

The final phase of the Florida dove hunting season is now on through Jan. 10 with hunting open from noon to sunset daily and you can shoot 12 of them per day.

—'INCREDIBLE CALL'—

Hogs Disagree With Fumble Call

Memphis, Tenn. (AP) — "If I were on their team I would have disputed it," said Tennessee's Carl Witherspoon, whose controversial fumble recovery set up the game-winning touchdown Monday night in the ninth-ranked Vols 14-13 Liberty Bowl triumph over Arkansas.

"I had the ball!" said the 205-pound junior tackle. "I know I had at least partial possession. I was a little surprised we got the call because things had been going against us. It was a 50-50 play."

Tennessee took possession at the Razorback 37 and scored in three plays, with Curt Watson scrambling the final 17 yards on a sweep of the right side. George Hunt then booted the winning point with 1:56 remaining in the game.

The angry Razorbacks aired their disagreement in the dressing room on the fumble call and on a holding penalty that erased a 48-yard field goal by Bill McClard that would have given Arkansas a 16-7 lead with six minutes to play.

"I thought the whistle had blown," said John Richardson, victim of the fumble. "I never even made an effort to get it."

"I couldn't have had it any tighter," said Porker guard Tom Reed. "I handed the ball to the official and he called Orange. I said, 'You've got to be kidding.'"

"It was an incredible call," said center Ron Revard. "I swear he (Reed) is telling the truth."

The play came on the sideline in front of the Tennessee bench, and Vol players blocked the press box view of the action. There was a longer than usual delay, however, before the official signaled possession for Tennessee.

Arkansas had taken a 13-7 lead on McClard's fourth period field goals of 19 and 30 yards and appeared to have put the game on ice when the NCAA kick-scoring champion drove his 48-yard line drive through the uprigths with six minutes left.

"I've been kicking for eight years," McClard said, "and not once have I had or even heard about a field goal being called back like that. It's ridiculous."

Colts Defend Integrity Of Loss To Patriots

New York (AP) — The Baltimore Colts issued an official statement Tuesday defending their integrity and revealing that their upset defeat by New England cost many players and coaches bonuses promised if the club had won the Eastern Division title in the American Football Conference.

Citing stories suggesting the Colts may have lost to the Patriots because they preferred to meet Cleveland rather than Kansas City in a first-round playoff game, general manager Don Klosterman issued a statement which said:

"The idea that the world champions would give less than a full effort in order to gain a supposed advantage in playoff competition is repugnant to everyone associated with the Colts, a team widely known as one of character."

"The world champions' loss was a serious one in that it cost them a possible home field advantage in the AFC championship game and the Colts never have lost a player or championship in Baltimore."

"In addition, it prevented numerous Colt players and coaches from receiving bonus payments which had been promised them contractually if Baltimore had won the Eastern Division title."

Klosterman then went on to point out that much time also had been lost preparing for post-season action since the club already had started work on a game plan that would have been used against the Chiefs.

"In general, the Colts suffered many disadvantages as the result of the loss to the Patriots," the statement said.

"Coach Don McCafferty summed up the feelings of the Colts when he said: 'I don't want to lose to anybody anytime.'"

Klosterman's statement said stories suggesting otherwise had permitted the "integrity of the Colts and of pro football in general to be questioned through innuendo and distortion," that they did a disservice to the Patriots and belittled the Browns.

"The irresponsible mutterings," the statement said, "do a disservice to the New England team which played a fine game and deserves an untarnished victory over the Colts just as they earned when they defeated teams of the caliber of Miami and Oakland."

"We have a 3-5 record against the Browns over-all, have lost to them this year and are 1-1 in post-season play. They closed out their season with five straight wins. There is no advantage in playing the Browns and to think otherwise is ludicrous."

The situation involving the Colts arose from the National Football League playoff setup in which the three division titlists plus the second-place team with the best record in the conference qualifies for post-season play.

Baltimore headed into the final week of the regular season leading AFC East, one-half game ahead of Miami.

In the first-round of the playoffs, the Eastern winner is scheduled to meet Western winner Kansas City, 10-3-1, and the runner-up goes against Central winner Cleveland, 9-5.

The Colts fell into the runner-up spot when they lost to the Patriots 21-17 last Sunday on the last day of the regular season while Miami clinched the title with a 27-6 victory over Green Bay. That meant the Dolphins would meet the Chiefs and the Colts would play the Browns.

The winners of the two games — scheduled for Saturday at Kansas City and Sunday at Cleveland — will meet in the AFC championship game Jan. 2. The site of the game will be either Kansas City, Cleveland or Miami. It cannot be Baltimore.

HAWKEYES STOP HUSKERS

Slow-Starting Iowans Win

... NEBRASKA FALLS, 86-77

Iowa City, Iowa — Slow-starting Iowa surged to a 13-point lead in the last six minutes of the first half and went on to topple Nebraska, 86-77, in basketball here Tuesday night.

The loss dropped coach Joe Cipriano's Huskers to 4-4 while the victory, witnessed by 10,000 at the Iowa Fieldhouse, boosted coach Dick Schultz' Hawkeyes to 3-4.

Junior college transfer Rick Williams captured game-scoring honors with 28 points for Iowa and kept the smaller Huskers away from seriously challenging the hosts. Chuck Jura sparked NU with 24 points — 15 in the second half.

With the score tied at 26-all with 6:26 remaining in the opening stanza, Iowa employed a pressing defense that caused NU several turnovers. Williams, with 10 points in that span, pushed Iowa to a 46-33 halftime cushion.

The Huskers, who had a fine 46.5 shooting percentage, also scored on 20 of 27 free throw attempts.

The Hawkeyes, who hit a poor 14 of 37 field goal tries in the first half, rebounded to fire 30 of 66 shots for a fine 45 per cent overall. NU converted just 16 of 22 free tosses.

Although NU whittled the hosts' lead to seven points at 82:75 with less than three minutes remaining, Iowa saw-sawed with its second half lead that skyrocketed to 19 points at 72:53.

In the last six minutes, NU exhibited a brief rally that brought it from that 19-point deficit to the seven-point spread, but the Huskers couldn't overcome the bulging Iowa lead.

Following Jura in the scoring column were senior guard Al Nissen with 18 points and senior 6-5 forward Tom Bryan with 9 tallies. Bryan, from Fort Recovery, Ohio, made his first starting appearance this season.

Besides Williams' 28-point effort, the Hawkeyes received a 13-point performance from 6-9 sophomore Jim Collins and 10 points from 6-3 junior Glenn Angelino.

Junior 7-0 center Kevin Kunnert, 5-10 senior Gary Lusk and 6-7 Neil Fegabank, each scored nine points.

Bryant Defense Evident To Devaney

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

While admitting that this year's Alabama team looks a little different than the two that defeated his Huskers two years in a row in the mid-1960s, Nebraska head football coach Bob Devaney still finds some typical Bear Bryant traits in the Crimson Tide.

"They're bigger than the other two teams we played," Devaney pointed out Tuesday, "And while it's hard to compare quickness in looking at films, they appear to still have that quickness."

"The one thing that is typical Bear Bryant, however, is their defense. Bryant has always been a great believer in defense."

"This is the best Alabama defensive team we have played. The one we played in 1967 (Sugar Bowl) was a pretty good defensive team, but I think this one is better."

The Husker coach says the team most similar to Nebraska in what they do that Alabama has played would have been Southern Cal. Alabama whipped the Trojans, 17-10, in the season opener.

"Alabama has improved tremendously since that game," Devaney points out. "They had been running the wishbone for only about three weeks and that was their first game with it."

The Husker coach pointed to the Crimson Tide's 32-15 win over Tennessee as an example of their offensive improvement since the opening win over Southern Cal.

"Alabama did a great job against Tennessee by scoring 32 points against a team that's supposed to be pretty good defensively," Devaney observed.

The Huskers will wind up their pre-Miami preparations for the Orange Bowl Wednesday, taking Thursday off before flying to Miami on Friday.

Record Tied By Lakers

Buffalo (UPI) — Wilt Chamberlain converted a pair of three-point plays within 22 seconds Tuesday night to ignite a 15-point third period outburst as the Los Angeles Lakers tied a professional sports record of 26 straight wins with a 117-103 comeback victory over the Buffalo Braves.

Holy Name Rally Catches Pius X, 78-75

... SOPHOMORE SUBSTITUTE KOLL SPARKS VISITORS TO WIN

Lead only had to come

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

Omaha Holy Name trailing by 12 points late in the third quarter of play, blitzed the nets with a fabulous final frame finish to dump Lincoln Pius X at the Thunderbolt Gym Tuesday night, 78-75.

Sophomore substitute Jon Koll came off the bench to spark the visiting Ramblers of coach Tony Jaworski to victory.

Twice, in the closing moments of the third period Koll closed the gap to 10 points, and then just before the buzzer tailed again to narrow the margin to eight at 62-54 going into the final eight minutes of action.

The first-year lefty opened the fourth frame with a pair of free throws and another bucket and the Pius lead had suddenly melted to just four at 62-58.

The separation stayed the same until the two minute mark. Then Koll pumped up another and Gary McGill followed with a basket to knot the count at 71-all.

Coach Don Kelley's Pius club, which had led through the middle two quarters following a 17-17 tie at the end of the first period, pulled away again on baskets by Bob McEniry and Nicky Payne.

But with just 37 seconds remaining, and the 'Bolts leading by two, 75-73, a crucial three-point play put Holy Name in front to stay.

The Ramblers had missed a shot and Pius' Rich Jablonski came down with the rebound. When the ball was stolen out of his hands, Jablonski turned to the referee in protest, feeling he had been fouled on the steal.

As he was momentarily turned away from the play, Koll put up a shot. As the ball rolled around the rim, Jablonski then fouled Holy Name's Phil Salerno as he tried to regain position for a rebound.

But Koll's shot went in to tie the score at 75-all, and Salerno stepped to the line for a one-and-one free throw opportunity.

The first was good to provide the victory, although just at the gun Salerno hit again to produce the final score and the three-point margin.

The loss was similar to Pius' most recent outing. In that one the 'Bolts led Lincoln East by 17 points in the first half, only to drop the encounter Kelley's club which will enter the Doane College Invitational Holiday tournament next week, is now 1-3 on the season.

TKO Victory

Over Brown

Elgin (AP) — Ron Stander, Council Bluffs, Iowa heavyweight, won the 21st boxing match of his career on a third round TKO over Clyde Brown of St. Louis, Mo.

Stander, weighing in at 233, floored Brown twice in both the second and third rounds of a scheduled six-round match. Referee Bill Engel stopped the fight at 1:34 in the third round after Brown had gone down for a second time.

Stander, whose career professional mark is 21-0-1, had a gash opened over his left eye by Brown.

UTEP Hits

El Paso, Tex. (AP) — Texas A&M coach Don Haskins with a 200th career victory.

The victory advanced the Miners' season mark to 10-5 over Colorado now is 1-5.

Colorado wasted no time attempting an upset, opening the game with a full court man-to-man press. But it took the Miners only two minutes to gain complete control, and six minutes to open a 10-point lead.

UTEP led 46-26 at the half and widened the lead to 61-26 points early in the second half before Haskins began substituting.

Senior forward Scott Engstrom poured in 23 points to pace the Miners' offense. Colorado's

Christmas Day Game Brings Protests From Chiefs Fans

By CHARLIE SMITH
Kansas City, Mo. (UPI) — More than a little hate has been worked up here—and presumably in Minnesota, too—for National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle.
Reason, of course, is that Kansas City and Minnesota will host playoff games Saturday, which also happens to be Christmas Day.
The Chiefs will host the Miami Dolphins after the Vikings play the Dallas Cowboys. Miami and Dallas fans can eat their Christmas dinner, then settle back in their easy chairs to witness the proceedings on television.
But what about the fans in Kansas City and Minnesota, who are apt to have to desert the hearth and go out into a blizzard to watch their favorites?
The Chiefs' public address announcer reminded the fans Sunday at the Buffalo Bills' game when he intoned, "The Chiefs will be in a playoff game here Saturday . . . which is, of course, Christmas Day."
He was nearly blown out of his seat by the boos that ricocheted around Municipal Stadium.
Dislike for the Christmas Day game has been perpetuated in Kansas City by writers and broadcasters, who also don't like leaving their families to work on a holiday. It was even suggested by one that the reason Baltimore lost to New England Sunday was not so the Colts could play Cleveland instead of Kansas City, but so the Colts would not have to work on Christmas.
The Kansas City Star chose to run a sampling of the mail it had received Monday. Following are some of the protests:
"I have a solution to the problem of playing NFL playoff games on Christmas Day: have commissioner Pete Rozelle change Christmas to the last Wednesday in December."
—Jerome Deery
Kansas City, Kan.
" . . . As avid a football fan as I am, having never missed a pro game here in Kansas City, I still feel it is abominable for a game to be played on Christmas Day just to satisfy the television people and completely ignore the fans who fill the stands, Sunday after Sunday, and make pro football what it is.
"The overexposure and the very obvious commercialism, at any expense, is going to hurt the game. Within five years there will be a decrease in attendance if this continues."
—E. J. Redding
Kansas City, Mo.
" 'Chiefs Move In On Santa For Christmas Playoff' reads the headline, which should have read: 'Chiefs Move In On Christ-Child: Peace On Earth, But Grid War Goes On.'
"Why is it necessary to play professional football on Christmas Day? The only day when even nations halt wars for 24 hours to give homage to the Prince of Peace. Why must this day be desecrated because of the greed of football owners and sponsors? . . ."
—Frank A. Bartonek
Independence, Mo.
"We are avid, paying Chief football fans, but when the television industry dictates that football profits (to sponsors and ratings) are more important than celebrating Christ's birthday, I give up. Our TV will be turned off and our Christmas celebration turned on.
"There will be no more NBC or CBS TV distraction in this household for any of their programs, so they, along with their sponsors and ratings, can put that in their Christmas stockings and lump it."
—M. L. Schanze
Merriam, Kan.
"Pete Rozelle, NFL commissioner, stated that there was just no possible alternative to scheduling the playoffs on Christmas Day. This is a poor commentary on the ingenuity of a man in his position, having the responsibility he is supposed to have. The American and National Conferences have been playing games simultaneously on Sunday all year and the networks have been televising them with no problems. Why couldn't they do it the Sunday after Christmas? The same on Monday evenings. Why not schedule one of the playoffs then?

"I know there are plenty of answers and excuses but the fact is with the proper planning and foresight all of this could have been avoided."
—J. William Dalgetty Leawood, Kan.
"It must be that the United States has lost its collective mind. To have a football game on Christmas Day! About 50,000 idiots will pay fantastic prices to see men brutalize themselves and others on a day that should be a holy one.

"At least half of those 50,000 will have at least one or more children left at home or with a sitter. What a merry Christmas for those children, what wonderful memories they will cherish of Christmas spent without parents. I'll bet orphans wouldn't change places with them . . ."
—Mrs. Elizabeth Kenagy
Overland Park, Kan.
" . . . We have exercised our option to buy seats for the playoff games here, but those four tickets will be destroyed.

Not sold or given away. It is the only way I know to protest what they are doing to us."
—Mrs. R. D. Juergensen
Kansas City, Mo.

Cruise Of Loomis Tops Cage Players
By VIRGIL PARKER

Despite foul trouble, which limited him to just one minute of action in the third quarter, Rich Cruise scored 31 points last Friday night in leading Loomis to an 85-74 overtime victory past previously unbeaten Wilcox.
For his sterling effort, Cruise is named high school basketball Player of the Week.
Rich had 18 of his points in the fourth quarter and extra period to assure the Loomis triumph before fouling out.
Cruise hit nine of 10 field goal tries in his fourth-quarter spurt in addition to pulling down rebounds during the contest.
Others who had outstanding games last week and deserve special recognition include:
Karl Zimmer, Friend — Over the past weekend Karl hit 19 of 31 shots from the field and 7-8 from the charity stripe to account for 45 points in victories over Davenport and Bruning.
Dennis Andrews, Holbrook — Scored 30 points and had 31 rebounds in an 89-72 win over Stamford.
John Stutzman, Milford — Tallied 46 points in a pair of victories over Raymond Central and Centennial.
Dale Young, Hampton — Connected on 10 of 15 tries from the field, but more importantly had 15 assists, the most for a Hampton player in two years, in a win over McCool Junction.
Gary Vavina, Clarkson — Scored 31 points on 9 of 13 shots and a 13-16 effort at the free throw line. Also 10 rebounds in 73-64 win over Humphrey St. Francis.
Chris Fornoff, Hayes Center — With all the rest of the starting five on the bench because of fouls, Fornoff led the Cardinals to a 69-65 overtime win past Paxton.
Mick Higley, Fremont — Sank two crucial free throws with 19 seconds remaining to give Bergan a 62-60 victory over Blair.
Randy Blase, Hordville — He scored 31 points, and they all were needed, to give Hordville a narrow 73-72 overtime victory over Gresham.

Bryant Pleased With Practice

Tuscaloosa, Ala. (UPI)—Coach Bear Bryant said Monday that his second-ranked Alabama Crimson Tide is shaping up for its New Year's night game with top-ranked Nebraska in the Orange Bowl.
"We're kind of doing things like a championship team now," Bryant said after sending his players home for a five-day Christmas break from practice.
"We're kind of showing a little class in practice."
"I was highly pleased that we got in nine days (practice since the end of the regular season) and didn't have anyone injured," he said.
Bryant said the team will reassemble next Sunday for the trip to Miami and final preparations for the Orange Bowl.

Greyhound Says Amtrak Subsidy Threat To Jobs

(c) Washington Star
Washington — Top management of the Greyhound Corp., concerned about the effects of competition from the federally subsidized National Railroad Passenger Corp., has urged its employees to lobby against further appropriations for Amtrak.

In a letter early this month to Greyhound's 10,000 employees in the eastern United States, Harry J. Lesko, president of Greyhound Lines East, said that further federal funding for Amtrak represented a "competitive threat to our jobs, our livelihood and our company."

He urged all he company's employees to write their senators and representatives "to protest the granting of federal taxpayers' money to Amtrak," according to the letter, a copy of which was obtained by the Washington Star.

Unfair Tax Use

"Your federal tax money given to Amtrak will be used to unfairly compete with us and other private nongovernment-owned of the Greyhound Corp., panies to take away our business, our jobs and our security," it said.

What prompted the letter was not just Amtrak's request for $170 million to cover operating losses through the middle of 1973, but the rail passenger corporation's moves to cut fares in the northeast corridor. Most recently Amtrak lowered fares between New York and Boston to $9.90 from $12.75. Greyhound followed on Dec. 1 by reducing bus fares over the route to $9.65.

"What we're opposed to is

Man Shocked By Discovery

Los Angeles (AP) — Workman John Jackson, 22, was curious.

While drilling a hole in cement at Los Angeles International Airport on Monday he struck a hollow place. He put down his steel measuring tape to determine how far it extended.

He never found out. The tape touched an underground transformer complex. The resulting short circuit of a 34,000-volt line cut off electrical power to the airport for 10 minutes and knocked Jackson 20 feet. He was unhurt.

The blackout did not affect the airport control tower and other traffic control facilities — they switched to auxiliary power.

not competing with Amtrak, but competing with the government," said James L. Kerrigan, president of Greyhound, in a telephone interview from his office in Phoenix, Ariz.

"They reduced fares 22% in the New York-Boston market. They're already losing $250,000 there. But they reduced fares to the point where they were just below the bus. And then they advertised that their fares are below bus fare. As a result we've had to reduce our fares to protect our business and our employees' jobs," Kerrigan said.

He said a joint advertising program was offered, as a joint ticketing service. "Right from the beginning we've done everything we could to help Amtrak," Kerrigan said.

An Amtrak spokesman said there are joint ticketing arrangements for some areas Amtrak does not serve, and Greyhound also provides some connecting service to Amtrak trains as well as some tours in conjunction with Amtrak.

Urges Fare Control
He urged that Amtrak fares be subject to the same regulation as those of Greyhound — principally by the Interstate Commerce Commission — to prevent the rail corporation from lowering fares to the point where they do not pay for the cost of the service provided.

Kerrigan added that "if this subsidized fare is successful (northeast corridor) it will be used all over."

An Amtrak spokesman said the corporation is not necessarily trying to attract passengers from buses, but rather from automobiles. He explained that the lower New York-Boston fares — plus increasing the frequency of service to 11 from 8 round trips daily — was aimed motorists. In the interview, Kerrigan pointed out that Greyhound did not oppose the original legislation that set up Amtrak, nor did it oppose to Amtrak. He said he had met with Amtrak President Roger Lewis "to see what we could do about getting people out of the automobile."

He said a joint advertising program was offered, as a joint ticketing service. "Right from the beginning we've done everything we could to help Amtrak," Kerrigan said.

LHHC OKs Formation Of Alliance For Mental Health

By MILAN WALL
Star Staff Writer
With one dissenting vote, the Lincoln Hospital and Health Council (LHHC) Tuesday approved formation of a new Lancaster Alliance for Mental Health to act as the community's planning and coordinating agency for mental health programs.

Major objection to the move came from John Angle, a member of the Lincoln General Hospital Board of Trustees.

Angle told other LHHC board members that after several "careful" reviews he had concluded the report of the mental health planning committee, which recommended formation of the alliance, "tends to assume a utopian view of what is possible."

"It takes the position you can arrive at a stress-free community," he said.

"Uniformly Complimentary" Angle also said the report was "uniformly complimentary of agencies" now acting to meet area mental health needs, and he called "minor" the weaknesses noted in the report.

The recommendations of the planning committee, which drafted the report after several months of study, "means we are giving first priority to establishment of more bureaucracy," he argued.

Other council members, however, said although they shared some of Angle's reservations they believe a new coordinating agency for mental health is a valid community need.

A "Spotted Approach" Chauncy Barney, who sponsored the motion to approve formation of the alliance, said he believed current operations have led to a "spotted approach" to mental health problems and denied the community available federal matching funds for mental health programs.

The mental health planning committee gave particular stress to what it said was a lack of efforts to promote "positive mental health."

It was that section that Angle said he objected to as "utopian."

The report said the community suffers from such problems as lack of low-cost housing, school dropout rates, unhappy marriages and drug abuse.

"Weaknesses Cited" It estimated that as many as 20,000 county residents are "in need of treatment for a significant emotional problem." And it said lack of coordination, goals and objectives and data bases are weaknesses in the community's approach to mental health.

The health council directed, in its vote, that one of its board members be a member of the board of the new non-profit

Lancaster Alliance for Mental Health. Other board members will be nominated by a committee of health council members and representatives of Lincoln Community Services and the Lincoln-Lancaster Mental Health Clinic.

Elections will be the responsibility of a "delegate body" of two representatives each of mental health-related facilities and service organizations.

Formation Approved Although the LHHC executive committee had recommended "acceptance" of the entire report of the planning committee, the council itself voted to "receive" the report and give its stamp of approval only to formation of the new corporation.

LHHC Board President William Dobler said the executive committee had viewed the entire report as a "guideline" for future action, but "not binding."

Dobler said he would call together again the mental health planning committee to assist the new agency and the health council in implementing the council's decision to form the alliance.

An executive committee recommendation calls for completion by May 1 of a model program for meeting the county's mental health needs.

Two Hijackers Die In Furious Battle

Port Isabel, Tex. (UPI) — The captain of a hijacked shrimp boat steaming for Mexico Tuesday hit the sleeping hijackers with a lead pipe and stole their guns. Then the crew killed two male hijackers and critically wounded their woman companion in a furious, bloody battle.

"They went to sleep and I hit one over the head with a piece of pipe and got two guns off him," said Capt Ray Penland of the "Mr. Tucker," a 61-foot wooden hulled shrimp boat.

Asked if he shot the hijackers, Penland said, "One of them."

The two men and the woman commandeered the boat in port at Freeport, Tex., Monday and ordered it to Campeche, Mexico. The hijackers had three children with them, ages 4, 5 and 6.

"Well, they told me to head for Mexico," Penland said.

At 3:30 a.m. Tuesday, Penland and crewman Tony Walkup regained control of the ship. The crewmen radioed the Coast Guard which sent the cutter Durable to the scene, 40 to 50 miles northeast of Port Isabel in the Gulf of Mexico.

The dead men were identified by the Coast Guard as Royce

Lee Bowling of San Diego, Calif., and David Joe Dillman of Iowa. The woman was identified as Rhoda Schultz of San Diego. The children were Melinda Bowling, 6; Michael Schultz, 5, and Billy Royce Bowling, 4.

A Coast Guard security force and FBI agents boarded the Mr. Tucker. The woman was taken by helicopter to a Corpus Christi hospital in critical condition. The children were delivered to immigration authorities.

The shrimp cutter was escorted steamed back to Port Isabel, but anchored for several hours offshore so the FBI could interview the crew. When it finally arrived at the dock in a heavy fog at about 8 p.m., tight security kept crewmen away from reporters, though some facts of the hijacking and takeover filtered out.

Walkup, who came ashore on the cutter and answered questions from newsmen briefly before attorneys told him to be quiet, said the ship was a mass of blood after the incident.

"There were guts all over the floor," Walkup said. "It was just a big mess in the cabin behind the wheel house," said Chief Warrant Officer John Douglas, commandant of the port.

Penland, just after he had said he shot one of the hijackers, was asked who shot the other. Attorney John Black of Brownsville interrupted and told him he should not say anymore.

"I guess that will be all for the moment," Penland said.

Justice of the Peace Bud Emmons pronounced the two hijackers dead as they were brought off the Mr. Tucker in white rubber bags. Of one of the bodies, Emmons said, "His whole head was shot off."

The shrimp was put under guard through the night by Coast Guardsmen.

Preservative Said Cause Of Carcinogen In Drinks

New York (AP) — Two Swedish researchers say the food preservative diethyl pyrocarbonate (DEP), widely used in wines, draft beer and noncarbonated drinks, can produce the cancer-causing chemical urethan in several beverages in which it is used.

G. Lofroth and T. Gejvall of the radiobiology division of the University of Stockholm wrote in a report in the current issue of the American Journal of Science that DEP can react with ammonia in the beverages to produce urethan.

However, they said there was "inadequate information" on urethan concentrations in DEP-treated beverages but their study involved adding known quantities of DEP to the liquids and measuring the resultant amounts of urethan. The amount of DEP used was two to three times that permitted in beer and wine but equal to the amount that can be added to fruit drinks.

They said the results show up to 10 times higher concentrations of urethan in wine and beer than in orange juice.

They recommended that while there was no knowledge of what level might cause cancer in man, any amount of a carcinogen should be avoided in foods "where this is at all feasible."

A spokesman for the Food and Drug Administration said it was conducting an industry survey to determine how widely DEP is used and that they were conducting experiments to check on the findings of Lofroth and Gejvall.

Husband Packages Himself For Holiday Reunion Surprise

Chula Vista, Calif. (AP) — It was Darlene Mosey's Christmas present from her husband, but she was too busy baking a batch of mince meat cookies to leave the kitchen.

It was less than a week before Army Capt. Kenneth Mosey was due home from a 10-month tour of duty in Vietnam, his second in the war.

The package was so big that neighbors gathered as it was being delivered. Mrs. Mosey, 27, and the couple's sons, Scotty, 4, and Kenny, 6, stayed in the kitchen while her sister-in-law went to the door.

When the deliveryman sent the sister-in-law back empty-handed, Mrs. Mosey finally went to the door, signed for the package herself and opened the box.

To her shrieks, out popped Mosey with a grin and a hug.

"I just wanted to save her some trouble," he said later of the surprise. "She would have worried about her hair and the house and everything if she had known I was coming."

Mosey wrote ahead to Harold Schauer, his father-in-law, and arranged to be picked up Monday at Lindbergh Field after a flight from San Francisco.

From the Schauer home, Mosey was sealed up and hand-delivered to his home at a cost of $6.55.

The Moseys plan to leave in January for Omaha where the captain will become an Army instructor at Creighton University.

Stocks Climbed In Heavy Trade

New York (AP) — Stock market prices climbed Tuesday after seessawing back and forth all day. Trading was heavy.

The closing Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks rose 3.31 to 888.32. At one time the Dow average had slipped more than 3 1/2 points. The Dow has chalked up some 90 points since Thanksgiving.

Analysts noted that profit taking hit the market in spots but said it was an encouraging sign that the market was able to absorb it so easily.

"The market is clearly pointed upward over the next few weeks now that the international monetary situation has been cleared up and we are getting much better readings on the domestic economy," said Newton Zinder, an analyst at E. F. Hutton Co. Inc.

In the new background, it was reported that new durable goods orders rose 3.6% in November and that mutual fund sales exceeded redemptions last month.

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,300 common stocks gained .14 to 56.16.

Big Board volume was 20.46 million shares compared with 23.81 million shares Monday.

There were 792 advances and 689 declines out of 1,256 issues traded on the Big Board. The market had 96 million shares of new issues and 1.2 billion shares of old issues. The Associated Press 60 stock average advanced 3.1 to 107.17, with industrials up 3.4, rails unchanged, and utilities off 2.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index climbed to 101.56.

There were 123 big blocks of 10,000 shares or more traded on the New York Stock Exchange versus 149 Monday. The biggest was 300,000 shares of Airco at 20 1/2.

Other stock categories were mixed. Motors and chemicals were up. All other stock categories were mixed.

Volatility in the Big Board was about 10 to 20.

American Stock Exchange prices also gained. The Amex 500 index advanced 3.1 to 107.17, with industrials up 3.4, rails unchanged, and utilities off 2.

Corporate bonds were slightly lower and government bonds were lower.

Marketings in hogs remained moderate and prices firm.

They're Still Looking For Larry In Marshes

... DOG SAID WORTH $15,000

By The New York Times

New York — They're still looking for Larry out in the weedy marshes among the runways of John F. Kennedy International Airport.

Larry is a German shepherd, valued at $15,000 and insured for $5,000.

Sunday morning he apparently rebelled at the idea of flying to back to Seattle, Wash., from where he had come, and bolted from a portable kennel into which he was being loaded for the flight home via United Air Lines.

At various times during the last three days Larry has been chased, tracked and sighted by United Air Lines, the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and Port Authority police. Tuesday, for the third frustrating day in succession, the search was called off as it grew dark.

"We'll be back tomorrow," a United spokesman said.

Larry is a year and a half old, is black and tan, and has an identifying tattoo — WB839287 — on the inner side of his left front leg. He weighs 110 pounds.

He had been sent here for stud purposes from Seattle and on Sunday morning was brought to Kennedy Airport by his part owner, Jim Sauls of Poughkeepsie, for the return to Seattle.

According to a spokesman for the airline, Larry was brought to United's freight terminal at Hangar 8, on the outskirts of the airport and placed in a metal kennel. The kennel was then loaded onto a cart and trucked over to United's passenger terminal about a quarter of a mile away, to be loaded on flight 43.

As the kennel was being loaded into the belly of the airplane by two ramp employees of the airline, the door of the kennel flew open and Larry jumped out.

"He raced over to American Airlines next door to us," the United man said. "At one point we had him cornered. In fact one of our men had him in his arms, but he jumped out."

Larry went from American Airlines over to British Overseas Airways Corp. terminal where he was followed by a caravan of United Air Lines employees, by employees from other airlines and by Port Authority policeman in their bright yellow police cars.

From the BOAC terminal, Larry raced to the airport's international arrival building, made his way among the whizzing cars circling the field perimeter and leaped into Parking Lot 3.

"That's the last time we've seen him," said the United spokesman.

They say Larry has been seen at various places around the airport, which spreads out on a filled-in peninsula jutting out into Jamaica Bay.

On Monday two tracking dogs, one of them according to the Port Authority police, "Larry's girl friend," were flown in from Seattle to assist in the search. Accompanying the trackers since Larry's escape have been two United Air Lines employees, Ed Reagan and Jim Svernik, who have been detached from their normal duties and assigned to finding Larry.

"They've had no luck so far. We're sick about it. About the whole thing," the United spokesman said.

Israeli military spokesmen in Tel Aviv said there would be no comment on the reported raid. Observers said it was apparently in retaliation for an Arab guerrilla rocket attack on an Israeli border town last Sunday.

The war of words continued between Cairo and Jerusalem. Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan called on Egypt to join in negotiations for a peace settlement with Israel as "equals" and warned that resumption of hostilities would make any agreement in the future even more difficult.

An Egyptian government spokesman, quoted by Cairo Radio, said Egypt is not prepared to bargain over liberation of Israeli-occupied territory and would "spare no sacrifices" in efforts to achieve that objective.

Judge Declares Oswald's Effects Worth $3,000

Dallas, Tex. (AP) — U.S. District Judge Joe E. Estes ruled Tuesday that the federal government need only pay $3,000 for alleged presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald's personal effects instead of $17,729.

Both Oswald's widow and the government had agreed the property was worth $3,000 before the assassination of President Kennedy.

The property includes a diary, family photographs and Oswald's marriage license and had been valued at the higher figure by his widow, Marina N. Oswald Porter.

Estes ruled, "The nation and its people should not be required to pay a bounty for items of evidence upon which the Warren Commission based its report."

Estes conceded the value of the property had increased by $14,729 because of its association with Oswald and the Nov. 22, 1963, assassination.

But he ruled that to allow an award beyond the pre-assassination value of $3,000 "would create in a depraved mind contemplating the destruction of the life of one of the nation's highest officials an additional incentive for the assassination because the crime would result in the enrichment of the assassin's spouse or other beneficiary, resulting from the enhanced value of his possessions."

Judge-Designate Accused In Plot Involving Theft

New York (AP) — Seymour R. Thaler, an ex-state senator who was to become a state Supreme Court judge next month, was charged Tuesday with conspiring to receive and sell $800,000 in stolen U.S. Treasury bills.

A three-count indictment handed up in U.S. District Court named Thaler, 52, and three other men in the plot that involved U.S. Treasury bills stolen in July 1970 from the Wall Street investment banking house of Brown Bros. Harriman & Co.

The indictment alleged a number of illegal transactions, including cashing $250,000 of the stolen bills at the Second National Bank of New Haven, Conn., in which Thaler was accused of getting $93,333.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.
